NATIONALISM.

Dr. McLean's Criticism of Edward Bellamy.

The Purposes and Methods of the Modern Socialism.

"Looking Backward" is a Book Full of Good Suggestions, But of Chimerical Means.

In his address at the centenary praise service on Sunday night, Dr. McLean indicated some of the probable changes which the new century of the Republic might bring forth in the body politic. The prophesies of the century, the promises of the rapidly approaching, he outlined. The need of restricting immigration in order to leave space for the natural internal increase of population, the advancement of mechanical arts, religious movements, political reforms, the governing of the trade in liquors, all demanded his consideration.

But it was in the concluding periods of his address that the prophecy of the most radical and most important change of all was broached. The greatest of all changes which we may expect the coming century to bring to pass will be in the altering of our industrial conditions. The relations of labor and capital, of profit and wages, are seeking and must find new adjustments. It is the overtopping question of the coming century, not only in America but in other lands. Intelligence, keen and active, is being interested in this problem, which must some way regulate itself.

At the same time that Dr. McLean scanning closely the drift of the sober thought of the times points out and anticipates the result which is indicated by that drift there are others here who are working to bring to pass the end which the student of the minds of men foresees. The Nationalist society of a large membership of thinking people is working to bring about the solution of the great question between the wage-earner and the wage-payer through the instrumentality of government property in all things and proper distribution of profits.

Both Dr. McLean in his centenary prophecy and the Nationalist Society are influenced by the same matter, the pastor by suggestion, the society by direct adoption of Edward Bellamy's remarkable contribution to sociology entitled "Looking Backward."

The work is one of the most remarkable economical works of an age when, from the lowest stratum to the highest crusts of society, the great questions of sociology, communal law, interests in property, vested and enfranchised rights, are demanding consideration. At the bottom is the crime and violence of the International, at the top is the philosophic calm of "Looking Backward." Bellamy of Chicopee Falls in Massachusetts, and Troppman directing the outrageous International from his Swiss asylum at Zurich, are alike in their aim, though they differ in the methods by which they seek to attain that end, and that end is socialism, just as much so as the phalanstery of Fourier, the reaction in poverty from the early vices of Saint Simon or the visionary speculations of Robert Owen.

The hero of "Looking Backward" finds himself in Boston at the beginning of the third period of a thousand years since the Christian era dawned but the conditions of life are all changed from what he know them in 1886 when he left them. The Government has become the employer of all—the provider for all. Services are required of all between the ages of 21 and 45. After that the income of each continues, but each may pass his time as he chooses. Machinery has become so efficient that the hours of those who labor are but brief. There is no money and no wages. In place of this each person receives a non-transferable certificate, entitling him to an equal share with all others in the annual product of the country. For convenience sake, this is made up in book form, with little coupons representing dollars and cents, and when the holder makes a purchase the amount is punched out. There are no prisons and poor houses. Neither are there any churches; every one is connected with the "sermon room" by telephone. So with the lecture rooms and concert halls. The condition of things was attained by the gradual absorption by the Government of all monopolies and trusts. Beginning with a hatred of them, people gradually were led to see that these gigantic combinations really afforded the cheapest way of producing everything and finally they confiscated the whole lot.

Such in an all too brief abstract are the views of Bellamy, and this is the work which Dr. McLean has just read and which he recommended to his hearers to look into. The views of Bellamy have been adopted by many great thinkers in the East, where the Nationalist movement is making rapid progress, and it was for the purpose of finding out if Dr. McLean had given them his adhesion that he was called upon this morning.

"What I said in my address on Sunday night you must appreciate," he said, "is in many instances based not on positive indications in the drift of thought, but rather on the negative argument. The reasons for them do not appear on the surface in positive or affirmative form, but be neath and negatively, as for instance: I predict the breaking down of the spoils system, not positively from any force at present actively working directly against it, but negatively and by exclusion, because it will be impossible for it to exist in a population four times the present number.

"Precisely similar is the negative ratiocination leading up to a prophecy of change in the labor question. The relations of labor and capital are now seriously strained, and that a rain must culminate within the next century. It cannot continue, and therefore I am safe in predicting a change. I do not fear a violent rupture. Evolution, not revolution, will settle the matter, and one form of evolution which I expect to find in this subject finds its type in the trees about us. For a whole year they store up their forces and grow slowly and quietly, then comes a paroxysm of activity and within three days they are covered with blossoms. So in this there may be a paroxysma activity; but it is not therefore to be classed as revolution. Every indication gives strong grounds for hoping satisfactory adjustment of this great question.

"New as to Bellamy's book and the more radical work which gave him his start, Laurence Gronlund's 'Co-operative Commonwealth.'

"In 'Looking Backward' here are many manifest impossibilities, but many suggestions worthy of consideration by thoughtful men and women. The book is of great value not, pray do not misunderstand me, not as affording a definite solution of these matters, nor even a probable one, but as being filled with good suggestions. Bellamy presents to us a vision of a better condition of affairs, yet after all, it is the way which he presents as leading to the attainments of that condition may be all chimerical. Probably more difficulties would arise in the way he points out than he at all conceives of, though he does discuss a number of such obstacles. To my mind the greatest difficulty would be found in securing, even by the most earnest propaganda, the consent of the majority to adopt Nationalism, and even if it were done there would be a minority, persistent, irritating, and annoying, for you must see that all other socialist communes had the great advantage over nationalism that they never advanced far enough to be called upon to make some disposition of the malcontents.

"Attempts have been made to carry out similar ideas—attempts under the most favorable conditions—and they have all failed. New Harmony and Brook Farm have broken asunder by their weakness within, and without any strain from without such as Nationalism would have to encounter.

"In brief, I may say that in my judgment 'Looking Backward' suggests conditions of life which are bound to come to pass, but I am by no means convinced that Nationalism is the road which leads to them. The solution is involved in a cloud of obscurity, but the solution will have to come."

IT WAS A HIT.

The New Operetta By Clark Wise and Clifford Page.

There were two nervous young men in San Francisco last night. One was Clark Wise of this city, and the other was Clifford Page of Alameda, and they were the author and the composer, respectively, of the new opera, The First Lieutenant, which was produced for the first time at the Tivoli Opera House. It was the opening night, and a very creditable opening night it was for the best of Oakland society was there, and the Tivoli rarely sees such a pretentious first night. Both young men were present and both were wondering how their first operatic effort would be received, and both were a little nervous. But what was the result? It was a hit, and Oakland and Alameda can claim to have produced the most successful opera ever written on this coast, and it may fairly rank with the best American operas.

There are two parts to the opera, the libretto and the music. Clark Wise is entirely responsible for the former, for the scenery, for much of the costuming, and he has produced a very effective piece of work. The text is original and highly amusing, and there are many pretty scenes. The dialogue is good, and on the whole Mr. Wise can feel very proud of his first attempt.

With the music Mr. Page has been equally successful. Mr. Page claims originality for his music, and that he has not taken from other authors. Mr. Page has therefore an unusually difficult task, for complete originality is difficult to obtain. But Mr. Page has succeeded. He has written a very pleasant and very harmonious opera, with many very musical numbers, and the Examiner says of it:

Some of the lyrics, the choruses, and the orchestral interludes would fit admirably such a libretto as that of Lakme, and the orchestration all through the opera is so beautiful, so original, and so full of color that it would be worth hearing if there were nothing else attractive in the score.

The audience, in addition to being large, was very enthusiastic, and they called the young authors before the curtain three times, and the First Lieutenant can be pronounced a decided success

FREE LICENSES.

The Question as to Who Shall Issue Them to Be Settled.

The question of free license has always been a mixed one since the charter went into effect. Heretofore the Mayor has always issued the free licenses, but in the charter no one is given that power. This has caused some confusion. To obviate this confusion an ordinance has been prepared and will be passed at the next meeting of the Council as follows, amending section 13 of the present license ordinance:

"If any person shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the Auditor that such person by reason of physical infirmities, unavoidable misfortunes, or unavoidable poverty, merits exemption from the operation of this ordinance, said Auditor may issue such person a free license upon having first obtained the consent, in writing, of the Tax Collector and Mayor therefor. In each case it shall be the duty of the Auditor to investigate the merits thereof and grant a free license only in meritorious cases.

"Whenever the Auditor is satisfied that the receipts of any exhibition, concert, lecture, or other entertainment is to be or will be appropriated to any church, school, or religious or benevolent purpose within the city of Oakland he may grant, as of course, a free license for the same to the person or persons about to conduct the same."

May Rains.

It has been no uncommon occurrence to have several showers of rain in this State during the month of May. Many persons remark that it is unusual to see rain at this season of the year. Such is not the fact, as will be shown, although it must be stated that the recent storm is somewhat heavier than the ordinary May rain. According to Hutchison's rain gauge, on May 2d up to 1 P. M. .03 of an inch fell; on May 4th, .19; May 5th, 1.04; May 6th, .42; May 7th up to 1 P. M., .08; being a total for the month of 1.76 inches, and 21.14 inches for the season.

The rainfall during May, last year, was .48 of an inch, and in June, .49, and the total for the year was 16.51 inches. In May, 1887, the rainfall was .10 of an inch, in June, .05 of an inch and that of the season 18.30 inches. The total rainfall for 1886 was 32.11 inches; that of May, .30 of an inch, and none fell in June.

The effects of the storm on cherries that are now ripe or about ripening will be disastrous. All early light and red cherries are cracked open and beginning to rot on the trees. Those that will come in later will probably be improved rather than injured by the storm. Hay that has been cut will be injured to some extent but will not be a complete loss. Much of the grain that was standing before the storm is now prostrate on the ground and will be greatly damaged. All the late and medium sown grain will be greatly benefitted by the storm. The strawberries that will be coming into market for a week or two hence will be badly covered with dirt. Those that will be in the market later in the season will be larger and otherwise improved by the rain.

Love's Sacrifice.

The Park, or Tivoli, Theater, on Fourteenth street, will not produce Love's Sacrifice until to-morrow night, owing to the fact that the scenery is not yet ready. It is being put in place to-day and the full company will be out in force to-morrow night in the above named play. Mr. Kohler said to a reporter to-day that he expects to give good plays right along, and is confident that in a few weeks he will be drawing crowded houses nightly.

Appointed Appraisers.

Judge Gibson has appointed Charles B. Overacker, A. M. Rosborough, and John C. Jamieson appraisers of the estate of E. Thurston, deceased.

To Decide the Dietz Case.

Judge Laidlaw will render his decision in the Dietz case to-morrow.

THE BOARD OF WORKS

Will Repair the East End of the Main Lake Sewer.

The Board of Public Works got down to sewer work yesterday afternoon at their special meeting.

City Engineer Morgan reported upon the condition of the Main Lake sewer. From the lake to Webster street it was in good condition, but should be cleaned. From Webster street to Franklin the wood was beginning to decay, and would not hold if the street were filled to grade. From Franklin street to Broadway the sewer was in very bad condition, and a break was liable to occur any day, and if the streets were filled to grade the whole thing would positively cave in. There was considerable sand on the floor, which should be cleaned out, but the rest of the sewer was in good condition. The masonry is good. The leakage on the marsh came from the lateral sewers, and not from the Main Lake sewer. He advises that the sewer from Webster street to Broadway, 670 feet, be rebuilt at a cost of $6405 20.

The following resolution was introduced and passed:

To the Honorable City Council of the City of Oakland—GENTLEMEN: Pursuant to the Council resolution No. 16,897, the Board of Public Works instructed the City Engineer to examine that portion of the main lake sewer referred to in the resolution and herewith you will find a copy of his report. From this report and from personal examination, we are convinced of the necessity of having that portion of the Main Lake sewer between the east line of Webster street and the east line of Broadway constructed of brick, and in conformity with the report of the City Engineer, and for two reasons:

First—Because the sewer is now in a dangerous condition.

Second—The street is from three to four feet below the grade, and if filled in before the sewer is constructed, would entail additional cost in the reconstruction of the sewer.

We would, therefore, recommend that the Council take such immediate action as may be necessary to authorize the reconstruction of this portion of the sewer.

J. WEST MARTIN,
ROBERT M. FITZGERALD,
Commissioners.

The board adjourned.

WHO STOLE THE MONEY?

An Old Lady's Peculiar Idea of Justice.

Maria Brown is on trial before Judge Gibson and a jury to-day on a charge of grand larceny for stealing the sum of $55 from Maria Silva Marciel of Centerville. The prisoner was stopping at the house of the complaining witness, and it is charged abstracted the money from a purse. She was accused of the theft, and returned a portion of the money. Mrs. Macriel called in a constable, and the woman was searched and the balance of the money was found hidden in her hair.

The complainant proved a peculiar witness. On direct and cross-examination she was certain that $55 had been stolen. Then, on re-direct examination Prosecutor Nusbaumer was astounded to hear the witness relate that she had $400 in a stocking in her house, and all of it had been stolen. However, it had all been returned but $55, so she would only prosecute the prisoner for stealing that amount. Neither the court, the jury, or anyone else could fathom the witness's mysterious story. The case is still on trial.

THE GODAIR FAMILY.

A Colored Troupe of Musicians to Perform in Oakland.

The Godair Family will give the people of this city a treat that they cannot help but appreciate, at the Oakland Theater next Thursday evening. The members of this family, who are eight in number, are all excellent vocal and instrumental artists and are colored people. The quartet of the troupe were all born in slavery and their plantation melodies are really fine, and the citizens of this city should not fail to hear them. At the musical convention in San Francisco recently, they carried off many of the honors that were there awarded. Miss Henrietta Godair, age 14, was awarded the gold medal as the best pianist. The troupe have given their unique entertainments in the principal cities and towns in the United States during the past ten years, winning the highest praise wherever they appeared. Their appearance, which will be their first in this city, will be under the auspices of Lyon Post and Relief Corps, for the benefit of the Relief fund.

OF STONE OR BRICK.

The New Building of the Young Men's Christian Association.

There was a special meeting last night of the subscribers to the building fund of the Young Men's Christian Association for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the subscribers as to whether the contemplated structure should be built of wood or of stone and brick.

During the discussion it was stated that a wooden building would cost $30,000, and one of brick, 70x100 feet in dimensions, $33,500. The association has but $30,000 in its building fund. It was the sentiment of the subscribers that it would be better to have a good, solid structure of brick and stone and that the difference of $3500 should not be allowed to stand in the way. Several subscribers have increased their subscriptions, so that now there is a reasonable prospect of the building being a fine ornamental one.

DR. BELL.

He Is Called East, But Will Soon Return to Make His Home Here.

Rev. Samuel Bookstaver Bell has been recalled to the East to settle up some important business before he can settle down permanently in this city, which he was so largely concerned in founding.

During his recent visit here Dr. Bell has delivered two remarkably interesting lectures on early times in this city, in addition to affording a most delightful interview on the same subject, which was published in this paper. Dr. Bell has made himself as much liked by the younger generation as he was by his earlier compeers when he was struggling to build up the first church in this city and the first college in the State. As soon as his eastern business has been transacted he will return and make this city again his home, after thirty years' absence.

Her Mistress Was Out.

Chicago Tribune.

A lady on Mount Vernon street told her newly acquired Irish maid the other day to say she was not at home in case any one called. One visitor did come, and she is responsible for the story.

"Is Mrs. Blank in?" she said, when the door was opened in response to her ring.

"No, ma'am," replied Bridget, stonily. "She's not at home, and may God forgive the awful lie I'm tellin' ye."

Whereupon she slammed the door in the visitor's face, and that was the end of it.

ST. MARY'S.

Progress of the Christian Brothers' College.

The Reported Bonding of Their Sixth Ward Lot.

Brother Bettelin Speaks at Length Concerning the Aims of the New College.

"Well, Mr. Clark," said a reporter of this paper as he met the gentleman named as he was about to board the local train at Broadway, "when will the new St. Mary's College building be finished?"

"We are now rushing it as fast as we can work, as, you are aware, it has been delayed several times, and the building should have been finished about a year ago. We hope to have it finished in August, if no unforeseen accident should prevent the work from being prosecuted with all due speed."

With that the architect got on the train that was then moving toward San Francisco.

A day or two later the reporter saw the Rev. Brother Bettelin, President of St. Mary's College in that institution, and in interview with him in regard to the new college building in this city, the old college in San Francisco, and the reported bonding of the block where St. Joseph's Academy is located in the Sixth ward in this city to a syndicate that proposes to build a hotel thereon.

"You see," said the President, "we bought the property with the intention of moving the college over there. We think we got quite a bargain in the land, and we feel confident the site is a good one. The buildings we now occupy were not built according to the plans of the Christian Brothers, and besides, the location, for many reasons, was very poor. This with the fact that the building is not suited to our requirements has, to a great extent, made the college an undesirable one. It was our intention to spend but $50,000 in the erection of the new college. We wanted something good, and soon found that the sum named would not erect a building according to our ideas. Plans were drawn, the contract let and work was soon under way. Instead of a building that would cost a little over $100,000, we find that we have a structure that is going to cost us fully $200,000, without including the interior furnishings. We did not have anywhere near the necessary funds to carry on the work, so we had to go slow, as I were. Some of our sister colleges have helped us considerably, and then we have our friends who stood by us and gave us assistance. Many of the brothers have influential friends, and these gladly contributed towards the building fund.

"The interior walls of the building are nearly all plastered. Three coats are being put on throughout. A few of the rooms in the upper stories will not be completely finished for a while, as we wish to get as much as will be necessary for the accommodation of our pupils by the middle of August next, when we hope to leave this place and occupy our newcollege."

"What size assembly room or hall have you in the new building, Brother?" asked the reporter.

"We have several halls. One is 30 by 140 feet and the others are nearly as large. The first named may be made even larger by throwing open the several folding or sliding doors that separate it from adjoining rooms."

The newspaper man intimated that the hall was then the largest in the city and would make a fine place for a dance, and that it would be a fine thing to get up a big ball in Oakland and have it given in this hall before the building was formally dedicated; that by doing this quite a sum could be realized and would help the building liquidation fund some.

The President seemed to think that it would be a fine floor for a dance, but he did not express himself in favor of using it for the purpose named. However, it may be probable that the ball given by the Young Men's Institute Grand Council next August will be held at the college, provided it is not occupied as a college by that time.

Brother Bettelin expressed himself as being sorry to be obliged to oppose the bituminizing of Broadway last fall when the proposed paving of that street with that material was up before the City Council. If it was not for the great expense the order was then under in building the new college he would have gladly consented to the proposition. At the present time he thinks the Brothers have added to the beautification and improvement of the city by erecting within its limits the largest and finest educational institution in the State. He said it will not be the rule of the order to oppose improvement, but on the contrary to not only improve their own property as they think they have done at St. Joseph's Academy and at their place on Broadway, but also assist others in doing so. As soon as they are able they will not stand in the way of all needed improvements on the streets upon which the college property stands.

When questioned as to the shabby appearance of the old St. Mary's College buildings and surroundings on the old Mission road beyond San Francisco, the President said that owing to the fact that they paid a high rent for the property, and have been looking for some years past to their occupying a fine college of their own in this city, they did not think it advisable to lay out any more on the premises but reserved it to improve their Oakland property.

"Will you," asked the reporter, "raise the standard of the college when it is located in Oakland and place it more on the footing of a university?"

"Yes, we shall make it more like our universities in the East, where we have several that take high rank among the educational institutions of the country. The course of study will be raised, and a four years' course adopted. For the present we shall content ourselves with a literary and classical course without taking up the professions. The several schools and academies we have on the coast will be made preparatory schools to the colleges in Oakland, where, after completing a four years' course, the student will be graduated."

"There is a rumor in Oakland," said the reporter, "that you have bonded your Fifth and Jackson street property, where St. Joseph's academy is located, to a syndicate for hotel purposes."

"Yes," replied the head of the college, "I heard the rumor, but it is not entirely correct. Persons came to me several times and wanted my price for the property. After considerable discussion the parties finally consented to give what I asked, but they wanted three months in which to consummate the sale. This I would not agree to, as the time was too long. Finally, we agreed to three months, but the land is not bonded by any means. Five weeks of the time have already passed, and if they do not take the property at the end of three weeks I do not propose to sell at the figure I then asked. We would not sell the property at all, but we wish to build a large school for our day scholars and younger boarding pupils, whom we do not wish to place in St. Mary's College on account of their age. St. Joseph's academy is hardly central enough for us. The city is growing fast and we must have the academy in a more central locality. It is true that it is centrally located as far as trains are concerned, but while that fact makes it good to the property, still it does not exactly do for a large school in a city where many of the pupils come from various parts of the municipality and suburbs."

It may be here stated that the order of Christian Brothers, who conduct the college and academy named, have charge of boys' schools at East Oakland, West Oakland, Central Oakland, and at Temescal, besides St. Joseph's academy, all of which have a large attendance. There is no doubt, that if they erect the proposed large primary school in a central locality, it will be not only another ornamental school, built possibly of brick, but will be well attended. It may be said that the Brothers were the first to build an educational institution in this city of brick and cover it with a slate roof.

ONE STEP TAKEN.

But Several Others Remain and the Ground Is Very Slippery.

The Liquor License ordinance is not out of the woods by any means, and there may be a great big slip betwixt the cup and the lip. The ordinance last night was simply passed to print, and after it has been printed for the legal number of times it is returned to the Council and may then be amended again or passed finally and given to the Mayor.

Tallesin Evans was asked this morning if the low license men would make any fight against the license when it comes back to the Council.

"I can't tell," replied he. "The liquor license ordinance may go through without any amendments and then again it may be amended. I can't tell."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"I don't know. I am opposed to high license, as it is discrimination in favor of the rich against the poor, and because it is conducive to illicit trading. Before the $50 ordinance was passed there were 240 places dealing in liquors, up to a week ago there were 490, showing that 160 were dealing in liquors illegally. Since Councilman Collins has withdrawn from the trade there are but 159 such places."

Mayor Glascock says that he has never intimated to any one how he stood on the liquor question, and he will not state now how he stands.

OAKS FOR OAKLAND.

Senator Moffitt to Plant Them, Future Generations to Enjoy Their Shade.

The State Board of Forestry met yesterday, when, on motion of Frank J. Moffitt, Walter Moore of Los Angeles was made President, S. W. Foreman was chosen Secretary, and W. L. Lyon Head Forester, each for a term of two years.

Professor J. G. Lemon of this city was selected botanist to the board at a salary of $150. The President was directed to employ two men to detect fire fiends in the southern portion of the State, and F. J. Moffitt was similarly empowered for the northern portion of the State. Forester Lyon was ordered to send 1000 young oak trees to Mr. Moffitt for planting in this city.

Commissioner Moffitt stated that Senator Dargie of Alameda had offered to donate twenty-five acres of land in Santa Barbara county on which to establish an experimental station. The matter was referred to Commissioner Moffitt. The trees at the Merced station are to be offered to the Board of Education of this city and to the Golden Gate Park Commissioners.

SEMI-TROPICAL OAKLAND.

Dr. Woolsey's Garden Furnishes Some Rare Fruit.

During the last few years it has been no uncommon thing to see Japanese Loquets in full bearing in this city. The tree itself is a beautiful evergreen, and many are to be seen throughout the city, ornamenting lawns and gardens. Fruit of this tree is quite luscious but is yet a luxury in this State. The trees do not begin to bear until they have reached quite an age, seldom less than twelve or fifteen years. A bunch of this fruit, growing on a branch that was covered with the beautiful green and glossy large leaves so peculiar to the tree, was brought to this office to-day. It was from a tree growing in the garden of Dr. Woolsey's Hospital for Invalids on Twelfth street, between Jackson and Madison streets. The fruit has just commenced to ripen, and is of excellent quality. The tree upon which they were grown is one of but a few that are fruiting in this city.

East Oakland.

M. Morris has recovered from his recent illness.

Louis Jacobs has returned from a visit to Modesto.

The old steamer Salinas is being repaired in the basin.

Mr. Webb is erecting a two story cottage at the corner of Twelfth avenue and East Seventeenth street.

A children's social was given at Tubbs Hotel last evening.

A gymnasium is being fitted up over Hampel's store.

Thanks of Fabiola.

The ladies of the Fabiola Hospital desire to convey their thanks to the following named persons for their generous donations: Pierce & Co., hose and couplings; Maxwell & Pierce, hose; Mrs. Wallace Everson, hose; Max Greenhood, one bolt towel crash; G. W. Arms, carpet sweeper. Also to the West Berkeley school children for their Easter gifts of cards and flowers.

About Ancient Athens.

It is probable that a large audience will assemble in the Young Men's Christian Association Hall this evening to listen to the lecture of the Rev. Dr. Hobart on his visit to Athens. The lecture is given under the auspices of Houghton Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle. Not only are all members of Chautauqua Circles invited to be present, but the public as well will be welcome.

Another Collection Case.

John McCarthy was employed by McDonald & O'Connell. He collected $25, which he failed to turn over. In order to collect their bill he was arrested and charged with embezzlement. This morning the case was dismissed, as McCarthy paid up.

Visit of Foresters.

Walter S. Moore of the State Board of Forestry, W. S. Lyons, Head Forester of the State and Mr. Niles of Los Angeles, as the guests of Senator Moffitt, visited this city to-day, and in the afternoon drove out to Haywards, accompanied by Robert McKillican.

An Unrepentant Small Boy.

Artie Harbridge had hardly got out of Judge Laidlaw's clutches yesterday before he went up to Brooklyn and jumped off the train and ran squarely into the arms of Officer Cottle. This morning Judge Laidlaw gave him $5 or five days.

RESTAURANTS AND WINES.

A Separate Ordinance to Provide for Their Sale Without License.

There has been a disposition on the part of the City Council to exempt California wines, when sold in the original and unbroken packages, from license, and looking to this end L. H. Wakefield had prepared an amendment to section 15, which would exempt such wines and would allow them to be sold at restaurants. The amendment, however, was quite long, and City Attorney Johnson said that it might complicate matters by its introduction. So, not to endanger the main ordinance, Mr. Wakefield withheld it and introduced a shorter amendment last evening. He says that even this might result in complications that would endanger the ordinance, so he voted against his own amendment out of regard for the ordinance.

However, the original, long amendment will be introduced as a separate ordinance in the future, and it will probably be passed. This amendment, which was to have been added to section 15, and which will be the new ordinance, is as follows:

And provided further, that this ordinance shall not apply except as hereinafter provided for the sale in and by grocery stores for domestic and family use of pure California wines as defined by State law, manufactured wholly from California grapes (or malt liquors unmixed with distilled spirits) when sold in original or unbroken packages, and in quantities of not less than one commercial pint bottle, provided that no consumption of alcoholic or fermented beverages is permitted on the premises or in any place connected therewith for such business purposes where such exemption is claimed; nor shall this ordinance apply to restaurants, hotels, or public boarding houses where fermented beverages are served as only incidental to the service of regular meals, and as a part thereof, and paid for as included in the price of meals (it being specially understood as part and meaning of the intention of this ordinance that the service of lunch or in any way incidental only to the sale of beverages where the sale of such beverages is the principal source of income of such place of entertainment) shall not entitle such place to the benefit of the exception under this provision.

And further provided, that it is the intention and meaning of this ordinance that any place of public entertainment, whether the same be a grocery store, hotel, restaurant, boarding house, public garden, or by whatsoever designation it may be called, shall be classed as a saloon under the meaning of this ordinance wherever in any part thereof, or in any apartment or place connected therewith, any alcoholic or fermented beverages are kept, offered for sale, or sold for the purposes of consumption on the premises (not strictly as part of a regular meal within the popular and ordinarily accepted meaning thereof); provided, however, that grocery stores, restaurants, hotels, and boarding houses as herein before referred to shall pay ten dollars quarterly in advance as license for the privilege granted in this section subject to the additional proviso hereinafter set forth;)

Provided further, that storage, warehousing, bottling and manufacturing establishments, dealing in fermented beverages only to be disposed of at wholesale where no consumption of such beverages is permitted on the premises or in places connected immediately therewith, shall not be subject to the provisions of this ordinance excepting that they shall be required to pay ten dollars quarterly in advance.

And provided further, that with respect to restaurants, hotels, boarding houses, grocery stores, public gardens or any other place of business which may claim exemption from the license in this ordinance mentioned, shall be subject to such examination of their premises by the law officers of the city of Oakland as may be necessary to discover any evasion that may be attempted of the terms of this ordinance, and upon the report of such officers declaring that any evasion is being practiced, or upon the receipt by the City Council of the city of Oakland of a written complaint signed by a taxpayer who solemnly asserts that such evasion is practiced in any such place of business, the Council may after considering such report or such complaint, and determining that there is any attempt to evade the true spirit and intention of this ordinance on the part of the proprietor or proprietors, manager or managers of any such place of business, impose a license tax on such place in the highest amount required by any ordinance of the city for the sale of alcoholic and fermented beverages for consumption on the premises (in which case, however, the said party or parties, before being permitted to continue their business under such increased license, shall first obtain and file a petition and bond and perform such other acts subject to the approval by the City Council as are by this ordinance required of any person or persons seeking a license for the sale of spirituous and fermented beverages for consumption on the premise, and in case such compliance with the terms hereof is not fully made and approved by the City Council, then the license under which said party or parties have been doing business as complained of, shall become null and void and of no effect; (or the said Council may in its discretion revoke any license or privilege to the party or parties so complained of, which they may enjoy under any ordinances of the city of Oakland whenever evasion of the true intent and spirit of this ordinance has been manifestly of a flagrant character.

Interesting Revival Services.

Notwithstanding the heavy downpour of rain yesterday and last evening a large congregation assembled in the Eighth Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, East Oakland, last evening. The services were of an impressive and interesting character. The song service, illustrated by the stereopticon, on Heaven, and the good hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," were excellent.

Mr. Clagett preached on "Heaven as the Home of the Righteous." Theme this evening: "Hell, the Abode of the Lost." At the close quite a number of persons came to the altar for prayers. The series of meetings thus auspiciously begun will continue during the week. Bible reading at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon and illustrated song and preaching service at 7:40 each evening.

CRUEL AND FALSE.

Mr. Evans so Describes His Absent Wife.

In Return She Also Calls Him a Cruel Husband.

One Step in Advance Taken in the Already Somewhat Notorious Divorce Case.

The divorce suit of Augustus T. Evans against Minnie M. Evans, which will shortly be tried before Judge Gibson in the Superior Court, came up yesterday afternoon on a preliminary motion made by the wife to have the case transferred to San Francisco for trial. The plaintiff is represented by T. H. Smith and J. C. Martin, while A. A. Moore and W. H. Chickering represent the defendant.

The case promises to be a very interesting one, and there is about $30,000 involved. The plaintiff charges his wife with cruelty and infidelity, and in her answer she in turn accuses the husband of cruelty. Mr. Evans opposed the motion for a change of venue and introduced a number of affidavits in support of his position. The plaintiff in his affidavit set forth that his wife is not a resident of San Francisco, and that her stay in Honolulu is not temporary, but on the contrary she left the State before the divorce suit was commenced, and went to Honolulu with the express and avowed intent of making it her permanent place of residence. Evans says that it is not true that his wife's departure from San Francisco or that her continued residence in Honolulu have been caused by any fear upon her part that her children or any of them would be stolen from her.

"I deny," says Mr. Evans, that she has any intention to return with her children to San Francisco. The facts and circumstances attending her departure are briefly as follows: I entered into a contract with my wife, and we agreed that she should have the children for a time. By the terms of the contract it was expressly stipulated and agreed that my wife should surrender to me in the month of December, 1888, the custody and care of my eldest daughter, Effie, and it was also understood between us that my other children were to remain in this State, so that I might have the privilege of seeing them at all reasonable times. My wife well knew that I would return to this State on or before December 1, 1888, from a temporary absence on account of my ill health, and demand the custody of my child under the terms of the contract. She, in violation of the terms of the contract and with wicked intent to cause me grievous mental suffering, left the State and took with her all the children, and went to Honolulu before I arrived in San Francisco.

In the month of April, 1888, I returned to this State after being absent several months. I telegraphed ahead the day I would arrive in San Francisco. The day before my arrival my wife in order to prevent me from seeing my children and with intent to vex, annoy, worry and cause me great pain and suffering did secretly and clandestinely take my children on board of a steamer then laying at anchor in the bay and on the following day sailed with them under the fictitious name of Mrs. Darling, for Honolulu. It is not true that I ever plotted with any person or ever had any intention to abduct my children or to remove them forcibly from this State, and it is not true that my wife took my children hence to Honolulu for the purpose of protecting them. The allegation to that effect made by her is a subterfuge and an afterthought connected by the defendant as a pretext for her wrongful and unlawful acts in the premises."

It was after hearing this statement that the wife's attorneys withdrew their motion for a change of venue and consented to have the case tried in this county.

If Mr. Evans is successful in his divorce suit he will commence another suit against his wife to recover about $30,000, which he asserts she obtained from him by fraud.

A Golden Wedding.

Judge and Mrs. A. M. Church will celebrate their golden wedding one evening this week and the event will be celebrated in due form by their sons at their parents' residence. The couple were married in Michigan on May 3, 1839. After living in that State a few years they came to California and are numbered among the earliest pioneers of the State. County Recorder Rod M. Church, and Deputy District Attorney Lincoln S. Church, are sons of these pioneer residents. Judge Church was the first County Clerk of this county.

A BOY'S NOTE.

Willie Cuddy Promises to Pay $2 in Saturday Installments.

It will be a long time before little Willie Cuddy forgets his experiences with the law of this city. Willie was one of the young train jumpers who were mulcted in the sum of $2 for violating the ordinance in question. At the conclusion of his examination the mother took her young hopeful before Bailiff Mitchell and explained that she was a poor woman and could not afford to pay the fine and would have to let the boy remain in jail. The youth begged and cried, but to no avail, and promised only as a boy can that he would never go near a train, but the officer would do nothing but order him locked up, and an officer was sent for to conduct him below. Then the boy cried as though his heart would break, and promised that he would pay the money, a little at a time, but of course this could not be done. When the officer stepped in Willie fondly embraced his mother, and assured her that he would never do so again. But Willie was not locked up. A gentleman well known in town for his large heart and charitable disposition, who had witnessed the scene, drew $2 from his pocket and paid the fine, much to the boy's delight; and to show his appreciation the boy had Bailiff Mitchell draw up a note, which was duly signed by him, promising to pay the good gentleman a little at a time. He obtained his benefactor's name and address, and an agreement was made that he would come every Saturday when there was no school and work until he had paid his obligation, and as the boy left with his mother he declared that he never would go near a local train again.

Agony is Courted

By persons who, attacked by a mild form of rheumatism, neglect to seek prompt relief. Subsequent torture is prevented by an immediate resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Slight exposure, an occasional draught, will beget this painful malady, where there is a predisposition to it in the blood. It is not difficult to arrest the trouble at the outset, but well nigh impossible to eradicate it when matured. No evidence in relation to this superb blood depurent is more positive than that which establishes its efficacy as a preventive and remedy for rheumatism. Not only is it thorough, but safe, which the vegetable and mineral poisons, often taken as curatives of the disease, are not. Besides expelling the rheumatic virus from the system, it overcomes fever and ague, biliousness, constipation and dyspepsia.

Seasonable Hints for the Market Garden.

Some Notes About the Cultivation of Potatoes.

The Management of Incoming Cows—The Prospect for the Season in Our Orchards.

MANAGEMENT OF INCOMING COWS.

The profit from a cow depends very much upon the management for some time previous to the calving. The best cows are always threatened by that usually fatal disease, milk-fever, unless care is exercised to avoid the danger. The average cow which escapes this disorder needs equal care to secure the greatest product of milk for the longest time; and in a business dairy where the calf is to be reared, its value will depend upon the manner in which the cow is managed. Docility is a considerable element in the value of a cow, and this is to be looked to as much as a large milk yield. So that there are three important points to be considered—the safety of the cow which, from her large development of udder and her rich milk yield, runs the most risk from the reaction consequent upon the disturbance of her system due to the calving; the judicious feeding of the cow whose system is to be stimulated rather than depressed; and in all cases the training of the calf for its future usefulness. Heavy milkers should be kept on spare diet for at least a month previous to the calving. No grain should be given. Good hay is sufficient at this season. Some cows hold on to their milking so persistently that it is difficult to dry them off; but it should be done at least three weeks before the time expires. It is a great mistake to encourage the flow of milk up to too late a period, for the purpose of boasting of the character of a cow. The frequency of milk fever with such cows is nature's protest against the misuse of the animal and the breach of natural laws. The flow of milk should be reduced first by feeding only dry hay, and second by partial milking only, always leaving some milk in the udder, and gradually lessening the quantity taken. If the cow has ever been attacked by milk fever, occasional doses of a pound of Epsom salts will tend to avert inflammatory action which results in this disease. To stimulate the average cow, which is rarely in danger of this kind, the food should be judiciously regulated in regard to her condition. If she is thin, bran mashes, or some cut roots with bran, may be given with safety, but in no case should corn meal, and still less cotton seed or linseed oil-meal, be feed. Good hay with three or four pounds of bran steeped in warm water will be sufficient as a daily ration. The food for a month previous to the calving will nourish the cow and very much help the calf.—American Agriculturist for May.

SEASONABLE HINTS FOR THE MARKET GARDEN.

After the first complete planting of garden crops, and when the ground has once been fully occupied, the careful gardener will plan for succession crops to occupy each place as it becomes vacant. The ground, having been well enriched in the beginning, and well cultivated subsequently, it will pay better to work it for second, and even third, crops than to manure and break up new ground. As to the best methods of continuously occupying the land each gardener must be guided somewhat by the needs of his market. The first ground to become vacant will be that upon which were grown onions, beets, and radishes. As the onions and beets will be thinned, instead of being pulled regularly (the largest being picked out as they become ready for market) vacant places will be made in the rows. In these may be put cabbage plants (a second early kind), filling only alternate rows, so that by the time the first crop is off the ground will be fully occupied again, and ready for the continual use of the cultivator.

The smaller a plant is when set out, the better it is, providing it has a stem stout and stocky enough to be handled without damaging it. A four inch cabbage or sweet potato plant is better than a larger one, more sure to grow and to give a valuable product. The first requisite for success with such crops, especially with celery, is to have good plants. Plump, stocky bunches of celery will bring two or three times as much in the market as thin, ill shaped ones. To produce these to the fullest extent the plants must be transplanted at least once (twice is better) before being finally set in the rows. The first transplanting should be as soon as the plants are large enough to handle; the second, when they are four to six inches high, and they should then be cut back one third their height. This can be done easily and quickly by taking them up in bunches and clipping the tops with large shears.

The tomato plant will also repay any especial care given in transplanting. This plant should never be forcibly pulled out from the seed bed, but a compact ball of earth should remain about the roots and be kept there intact until the plant is reset. An implement especially made for such purpose may be had at the seed stores for a small sum, or a garden trowel carefully handled will do the work very well.—American Agriculturist for May.

IN THE ORCHARD.

Judging from the trees that we have seen, the peach crop will practically be a failure. An occasional tree promises a little fruit, but many trees contain hardly a single peach. This is especially true of the Crawford and the Foster. Hale's Early blossomed very unevenly and set fruit still more so; some fruit will have a fraction of a crop, others absolutely nothing.

The Napoleon Bigarreau (Royal Ann) gradually came into fair blossom. The Reine Hortense and the Grafton blossomed fully but are both so notoriously unreliable that this is no sign of any fruit by the by. The Governor Wood blossomed heavily and appears to be setting a fair quantity of cherries. The black Tartarians are setting a crop that appears to be somewhat below the average in the orchards that we have observed. The Rockport Bigarreau will have an average crop.

In apricots the Blenheim sustains its good reputation, although much of the fruit that set has dropped to the ground, and the usual labor of thinning will be exceedingly light. The Moorparks are reported to be almost a failure, although some orchards have a fair sprinkling of fruit on the trees. Thinning will not cost much on this variety during the present season.

There is no change in the plum situation. As a rule the large number of blossoms have made a splendid setting of fruit, and a large crop may be expected.

Pears of almost every variety blossomed heavily and appear to be setting a fair quantity of fruit. Some varieties of apples will yield well, while others will not be up to the mark. It must be remembered that no one's judgment is of much account on next summer's fruit crop at this early stage; it is only intended to give the indications as carefully as possible.—San Leandro Reporter.

POTATO CULTURE.

A Wisconsin farmer give the Rural World the following:

"We have had some experience in growing potatoes, and find from our own knowledge of the crop that it is one of the most paying that can be raised in this part of the country. It is an oft repeated fact that but few farmers are successful potato-growers, and one need not search far to find the reason. The ordinary farmer will put in all the other crops before giving even a thought to his potato ground; then he will take the odds and ends for his potatoes, plow his ground in a careless manner, plant carelessly, and really expect a crop therefrom. I am now speaking of the ordinary farmer, and I think the observations of others will bear me out in the statement made. I have actually known farmers to plant one and a half to two acres of potatoes, when the farmer on the other side of the fence had four or five times that amount of good marketable quality from a piece of less size. What made the difference? The ground and the potatoes planted thereon being practically the same, part of this difference must lie in the culture. In 1888 I had two acres planted, one of the Peerless and one of Beauty of Hebron. One half the ground was first crop, the ground having been grubbed and prepared immediately before planting; the rest of the ground had borne potatoes the year before. The yields on the older piece of ground was much the better of the two pieces, as the newer ground lay too loose for such a dry year. But the two acres netted me $80 50 above all expenses, while many of my neighbors lost nearly the entire crop. In 1887 my crop was much better than last year, as the July rains were greater, my ground netting me about $58 an acre. My observation of the ravages of the beetle on different plantings has convinced me that potatoes planted from the 20th to the 25th of May are comparatively free from its attacks.

Choose sandy loam on which to put your crop, spread from twenty to twenty-five loads of well rotted manure an acre, and plow the land from seven to eight inches deep as early as can be done in the spring. Let the ground lay till, say, May 10th. Now pulverize it thoroughly, leaving no lumps; now plow ten or twelve inches deep, turning down the pulverized dirt and also thoroughly mixing the manure through the ground and let it lay in the sun till you are ready to plant. At planting time drag well and furrow out well with a large single shovel or stubble plow that will not scour. Mark very deep, with two horses; with a little care in driving they will straddle the row. Go twice in each mark, marking as deep or deeper than you plowed, as the fine dirt falling into the furrow will fill it up to the right depth usually. Drop your seed in rows across, if you wish rows both ways. When through dropping cover with your plow by going up on one side of the row and down on the other. Plow not quite so deep as you marked, and as near your seed as possible without disturbing it. Drag your ground down level just before your potatoes come up and after the weeds have made a start. And then tend as though you expected a good crop and you will usually get it. This deep plowing we always do in the fall, but as it is too late for that now of course spring plowing must do for this year. Deep, double marking pulverizes the soil just where we want it made fine; covering with a plow pulverizes the soil on either side of the row, and this cannot be accomplished so well after the plant has started. Crops put in this way are practically tended. By all odds select large, just such as you would wish to harvest, and we think your efforts will be successful.

THE MANAGEMENT OF DOGS.

Editor American Sportsman:

I was much pleased and greatly interested in the article on the dog and their management that appeared in the SPORTSMAN from the pen of Mr. Hugh Dalziel. To advance the growth and beautify the coat, he advises the use of cocoanut oil. Right. But do your many readers and lovers of the dog know that there is within their reach a more simple and easier obtained article and at far less expense, that answers the same purpose of the oil? This is nothing more nor less than Ivory Soap, manufactured by Procter & Gamble of Cincinnati. I have used it for many years and find it for all practical purposes far superior to anything I have ever used in my kennel. For washing setters I have never found its equal. Its healing properties are wonderful, and for sores and eruptions of any kind invaluable. It leaves the skin soft and clear, furnishes life to the coat, produces a beautiful growth of feather, and leaves it smooth and glossy, and free from harshness. I use it with lukewarm rain water, which I find is the best. This forms a rich, oily lather, and helps loosen all stubborn scales and blotches of the skin. To those putting dogs in condition for show purposes it is first-class, and does away with the use of oils, eggs, etc. I have no purpose in advising the use of the soap only for the good of the dog. I have no interest, directly or indirectly, have never met, nor do I know any of the manufacturers. But I must give them credit for giving us the best soap for kennel purposes I have ever used.

JOHN BOLUS,

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

The License Ordinance.

The vote in the City Council last night showed that it is reasonably certain that an ordinance fixing the liquor license at $100 a quarter will be adopted. This figure is considerably lower than was proposed at first, and may be regarded rather as a revenue measure than as a serious attempt to restrict the liquor business. It is true that it will compel some of the dealers to abandon this part of their business, but this is an inevitable effect of any measure of this sort. The restriction of the more flagrant evils of the business will be more effectively maintained by the enactment and enforcement of strict regulations, and as this part of the duty of the Council has been well looked after, we have no doubt it will prove a very beneficial measure. It will prove beneficial if the police see to its enforcement. The danger of all such legislation is that it creates a corruption fund, and if the police authorities are approachable the last state is worse than the first. We are fortunate in having at the head of our police force now a man who can be trusted implicitly, but the situation may change, and herein lies the danger.

As for the liquor dealers themselves, we trust that they will accept the decree of the Council honestly and without question. This will be their wisest policy, because the temper of the people of Oakland is not to be trifled with in this matter.

A story more ghastly than anything that Edgar Allen Poe ever invented comes from Dundee, in Scotland. A man named Bury, who was hanged there some two weeks ago for wife murder, left a written confession that he and his wife went there from London, spent the woman's fortune in drink, and found themselves on the verge of starvation. The woman proposed to earn money by immoral means, which so upset the finely strung nerves of her husband that in a frenzy of rage he strangled her. Then he spent his last shilling in whisky, went to bed drunk and passed the night within a few feet of the corpse. He awoke sober to meet the glassy glare of his murdered wife's eyes. Bury, in an excess of maddened fear, seized a big knife and slashed and hacked at the corpse for hours. When at length he recovered his self possession he proceeded more methodically to work, the idea being to dismember the body and throw the remains piecemeal into the river. But he soon became deadly sick, lost his nerve, and was unable to finish the ghastly task. Finally he wedged the mutilated remains into a big trunk, and night after night for a whole week sat up with the fearsome thing alone, save for the gibbering fiends with which his terrified imagination peopled the room. At the end of the week he surrendered to the police.

In Edward Bellamy's book of the new millennium called "Looking Backward" we are told that when the happy time comes it will be no longer necessary to go to church, because everybody will be connected with "the sermon room" by telephone. Mr. Bellamy's prophetic imaginings have been already realized in at least one instance, because we are told that at Tunbridge Wells, Eng., the telephone has been most successfully utilized for church purposes. The transmitters have been connected with Mount Pleasant Congregational Church and with private houses and offices with the happiest results. The sermon, the reading and the singing have been heard and enjoyed in the private offices of medical men, in the rooms of their patients and in other places, where the innovation comes as a blessing. It is believed to be the first example of the kind, and we hope will not be the last, because, as a rule, the use of the telephone has not been conducive to a pious frame of mind. It is a profane instrument, sorely in need of sanctification.

George L. Seybolt, who was formerly a Postoffice Inspector on this coast has been reappointed because of the efficiency with which he discharged the duties of this important office during his previous term. Everybody who has business relations with the department on this coast will be rejoiced at Mr. Seybolt's reappointment, because it ensures good service.

A controversy of some interest is started by the New York Nation on the question, "Who was Washington's schoolmaster?" The Nation urges that there is the more reason to trace out that pedagogue "because he was probably a convict." A statement to this effect appeared a dozen years ago in the London Notes and Queries (S. 5, vol. v., p. 501). The words are these:

"Mr. Washington was the second of five sons of parents distinguished neither for their rank nor fortune. * * * George, who (like most people thereabouts at that time) had no other education than reading, writing and accounts, which he was taught by a convict servant whom his father bought for a schoolmaster, first set out in the world as surveyor of Orange county," etc.

This is an extract from the unpublished private journal of the Rev. Jonathan Boucher, who, from 1760 until the Revolution, was a teacher and preacher in Washington's neighborhood, and who subsequently became the tutor of Washington's stepson, Parke Custis. At that time it was a common practice to ship convicts from England to the American colonies, where they were sold for slaves.

Wheatland should be proud of her native poet, whose muse is inspired by what might seem the prosaic theme of the Biggs investigation of hydraulic mining. We quote:

So Mr. Biggs has been to Washington,
And got three soldier engineers to come
To investigate it all through and through,
To see what they if anything could do
About this so-called hydraulic mining,
Of which farmers have so long been whining;
He got an appropriation to pay
Those three gentlemen's expenses at the bay.
Ten thousand dollars, it makes me stagger
To think of the cigars, and wine, and lager
It can buy.

There is a great deal more of the same high flavor, and it would seem that the Sore Singer of Wheatland might judiciously be employed to turn our real estate transfers into rhyme for the sake of euphony and the general effect upon the boom.

H. P. Livermore, A. J. Ralston and a number of other capitalists of this city and San Francisco have organized a company to build a flume from the great undeveloped timber regions of El Dorado county to Sacramento, along the canyon of the American river. The lumber will be flumed to the reservoir at the Folsom Prison, where water power for the saw mill will be furnished. The contract is for 500 horse power daily, and this can be raised to 1000 horse power if necessary. It is estimated that the company can lay down lumber in Sacramento at a lower rate than San Francisco gets its supplies from the northern coast.

The most angry man in England just now is the Hon. Roden Noel, uncle of the Earl of Gainsborough, who, although arrived at the mature age of 55, has taken to writing amorous verses, which he and the society newspapers claim to be poetry. A smart radical Scottish newspaper, however, dared to describe it as doggrel, and the honorable one forthwith wrote to the newspapers furiously denouncing his critic as a common British viper, an ignoble creature, a clown, an insect, and a dotard mumbling impotently with toothless gums.

Mr. Smith of San Bernardino is having a heap of trouble all on account of too much of a good thing. There are in fact three Mrs. Smiths to one Mr. Smith, obviously a very embarrassing sum in the rule of three. As the easiest solution of this difficult problem he has fled to Los Angeles with the latest Mrs. Smith, while the two previous Mrs. Smiths are barking on his trail. When they arrive the chances are that Smith will be convinced that he was too previous.

We rejoice to see that the Young Men's Christian Association has decided to build of brick or stone. That was our advice from the beginning, and we are certain that it is sound. We wish them a long career of usefulness, and although the Rev. C. W. Wendte accuses them of limiting their field too closely, we are certain they will be only too glad to accept his ministrations and co-operation in any and every capacity. Besides, Mr. Wendte knows that limitation means concentration.

The Concord Fight.

[Hymn sung at the completion of the Concord monument, April 19, 1836.]

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breezes unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood
And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept,
Alike the conqueror silent sleeps,
And Time the ruined bridge has swept
Down the dark stream which seaward creeps,

On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set to-day a votive stone;
That memory may their deed redeem
When like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit, that made these heroes dare
To die and leave their children free,
Bid Time and Nature gently spare
The shaft we raise to them and Thee.

The value of a remedy should be estimated by its curative properties. According to this standard, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best and most economical blood medicine in the market, because the most pure and concentrated. Price $1. Worth $5 a bottle.

The White Sulphur Springs,
Near St, Helena, a favorite resort for Oaklanders, has been formally opened for the season. The hotel and grounds have been greatly improved, making it the most attractive summer resort in the State. The swimming and bathing facilities are unexcelled.

New Sateens.

We have just opened up 10,000 yards of fine sateens in all of the newest French designs and the latest shades. These are really elegant goods, make up stylishly with pink or velvet trimming. We have sateens from 12½ cents per yard upwards. Call and see them at J. S. Gilmore & Co.'s popular dry goods house, Thirteenth and Washington streets.

Made It Unanimous.

The most popular man in East Oakland is M. Y. Stewart, the butcher, at 311 East Twelfth street. This popularity was made unanimous because of Mr. Stewart's meats being always fresh and clean, and his many customers realize that there is no better place to go for anything in that line.

The Safest

AND most powerful alterative is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old are alike benefited by its use. For the eruptive diseases peculiar to children nothing else is so effective as this medicine, while its agreeable flavor makes it easy to administer.

"My little boy had large scrofulous ulcers on his neck and throat from which he suffered terribly. Two physicians attended him, but he grew continually worse under their care, and everybody expected he would die. I had heard of the remarkable cures effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and decided to have my boy try it. Shortly after he began to take this medicine, the ulcers commenced healing, and, after using several bottles, he was entirely cured. He is now as healthy and strong as any boy of his age."—William F. Dougherty, Hampton, Va.

"In May last, my youngest child, fourteen months old, began to have sores gather on its head and body. We applied various simple remedies without avail. The sores increased in number and discharged copiously. A physician was called, but the sores continued to multiply until in a few months they nearly covered the child's head and body. At last we began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a few days a marked change for the better was manifest. The sores assumed a more healthy condition, the discharges were gradually diminished, and finally ceased altogether. The child is livelier, its skin is fresher, and its appetite better than we have observed for months."—Frank M. Griffin, Long Point, Texas.

"The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla presents, for chronic diseases of almost every kind, the best remedy known to the medical world."—D. M. Wilson, M. D., Wiggs, Arkansas.

Seasonable Apparel

—FOR—

SUMMER WEAR!

Hot weather has come and those who are first to purchase fashionable summer clothing will be the ones to get the most comfort and benefit from their purchases. In anticipation of an immense trade this summer, we ransacked the markets of the World for the best goods for each department of our mammoth clothing emporium, and have a stock that for magnitude, excellence and variety, surpasses any other in the west. This stock was largely made to our special order for our best trade.

IT WILL PAY TO CROSS THE BAY

COME AND PROVE IT!

The general interest taken in out door sports this summer, has resulted in the introduction of many fashionable novelties in appropriate wearing apparel, we have made a special effort in this particular direction, and are proud to say that we are not only headquarters for all kinds of suits and uniforms, but have an elegant assortment of gentlemen's summer clothing for all occasions, whether it be at home, at the seaside or camping out. Nothing like our stock is to be seen elsewhere in the west, and until you have seen it you have no idea of the novelties that are just out in

Tennis Suits,
Tennis Blazers,
Negligee Shirts,
Yachting Suits,
Bicycling Suits,
Base Ball Suits,
Camping Suits,
Etc., etc.

Every man likes to be dressed in garments that fit, but it is not every who likes to pay the merchant tailor double prices. Our new stock represents all of the latest styles in business and dress suits for Summer wear, made up out of the most fashionable fabrics. These goods were all made to our special order and are, in make and trimming, equal to the best productions of the custom tailor. To insure a perfect fit in every instance, we employ a competent force of tailors to make such slight alterations as may be necessary, for which we make no charge. We give you a larger assortment to select from, as good a fit and as good a suit as any merchant tailor, at about half the money.

Novelties in Straw Hats.

ALL OF THE NEW BRAIDS AND STYLES IN STRAW HATS

A full line of the celebrated KNOX HATS in "Derby" and "Silk," in all of the new Spring shapes, and also an immense stock of soft hats in serviceable and stylish "Crushers." Don't buy a hat of any description until you have seen our stock, and remember that we are

THE 400.

The Figure Named For Liquor Licenses.

A Wordy Discussion and Personal Explanations.

The Liquor License Fixed at $100 a Quarter—What Mr. Collins Had to Say—Other Business.

Captain Hackett, J. F. Towle, and L. H. Wakefield are no longer outcasts with little pine tables to sit at. They are just as good as any of the other Councilmen, for last night three new desks, with bran new green tops, arrived. Then President Camron entered on the arm of Captain Hackett, who gracefully greeted Mr. Collins with the remark: "How's the chief swindler?" Then he smiled and ringmaster Wilson cracked the whip, the band began to play and the elephant then went round.

No one ever pays any attention while the Clerk is reading the minutes, not that the Clerk is lacking in any personal charms, but that no one has found an error in the minutes. There is a vague rumor to the effect that Councilman McAvoy once had a correction made, but that is not authenticated, as the Councilmen were all reading at the time, as the minutes had not been completed. Last evening, during this operation Cor Brosnahan tried to improve his mind by reading the High School Ægis, while J. C. McAvoy busied himself with a copy of the Journal of Commerce. Captain Hackett employed this time in writing a couple of little resolutions. Mr. Evans put the finishing touches on the report of the Special Investigating Committee, while Mr. Wakefield wound up the report of the Finance Committee. The rest went to sleep. Just before the reading had been completed President Camron cast a glance around the room and spied a lighted cigar.

"Mr. Bailiff," he demanded sternly, "remove that gentleman or his cigar," and an abashed man burnt his fingers trying to extinguish his burning weed.

Concerning Some Saloons.

The report of the committee appointed to investigate the character of certain saloons in the city recited that the Temple Bar saloon, conducted by John McBride at 407 Seventh street, had been shown on evidence to be of very unsavory reputation; that it was a resort for gamblers, petty larceny thieves, and opium fiends. The committee found that the management of the saloon had been transferred to Robert Tait about three months ago on a verbal lease, but that the license had not been changed. The lodging house above the saloon had been shown to be a resort for dissolute girls and an assignation house of the worst character. McBride had been the proprietor of these rooms, but within the last five months McBride had transferred it to one Osborne, who was now conducting the place. The committee recommended that McBride's permit to take out a license be revoked and that the Chief of Police be notified that the house above was one of disrepute.

In the matter of the saloon kept by Joseph de la Montaigne and James Carpenter at 417 Seventh street, the committee reported that the two proprietors had acknowledged that the character of the saloon was poor, and that the house above, which was also run by them, was a house of assignation. Therefore the committee recommended that their permit be revoked, and that the matter take the same course as the case of McBride.

In the matter of the Wigwam saloon, at the corner of Twelfth and Webster streets the committee found that William Delaney was not responsible for the character of the house, as he had some time ago sold the house to Frank Page, who was at present conducting the saloon on Delaney's license, therefore they recommended that proceedings be taken against Page for selling liquor without a license, and that Delaney's permit to sell liquor at that place be revoked.

The report was filed on motion of Captain Hackett.

Capt. Hackett's Resolution.

There was a sarcastic little smile on Capt. Hackett's face as he quietly stepped forward and announced that he had a little resolution to offer. The lobby had heard the Captain make similar remarks before and they were always followed by disastrous results to somebody and they moved uneasily to hear better. This resulted in a vigorous thumping of the Presidential desk by President Camron in the interests of law and order.

"It is out of order," said President Camron, and the lobby recognized the fact that President Camron meant what he said when he declared that he would hold the Council down to business, and not allow anything to come up out of order until the liquor license ordinance was disposed of or the Council had adjourned. They also recognized the fact that President Camron meant business, be it Captain Hackett or Mr. Evans.

"It's a very important resolution, and was drawn by the City Attorney," said Captain Hackett.

"It's out of order," reaffirmed President Camron.

"How can I get it in order?" persisted Captain Hackett.

"Only by the unanimous consent of the Council, and you can't get that for I object," said President Camron.

Captain Hackett subsided.

The usual monthly reports were presented and the Council settled down to wrestle with the liquor license ordinance, and the lobby expected a big fight and were woefully disappointed. The sections were adopted almost unanimously.

Messrs. Kirk, McAvoy, and Evans only went against section 7, and section 8 went through without opposition.

Section 9 treats of bonds, and provides that a $1000 bond must be furnished for the keeping of an orderly house, with bondsmen selected only from the ward in which the saloon keeper lived and the one in which he did business. It also provides that the license shall not be transferable.

Councilman Collins made an amendment allowing bondsmen to be selected from the city at large. This was unanimously adopted. The section then met the same fate.

Section 10, which gave the power to revoke licenses, was adopted without an amendment, and it began to look as if the low license men had taken President Camron's advice and not make any trouble.

Sections 11 and 12 followed suit beautifully, and it became evident that the fight was to be made on the amount of the license. It even went so far that Mr. Earl moved the adoption of section 13, which provided for monthly returns by police officers to the Chief of Police showing the condition of the saloons on his beat.

In section 14 Mr. Evans found a little typographical error, which was speedily corrected, after which it was adopted.

Fixing the Figure.

Section 16 contains a blank. It is the amount of the license. When Clerk Brady read this section the lobby, which had been noisy and uneasy, became still as death, for the decisive moment had come.

When the reading had been completed Mr. Earl moved that the blank be filled with $50 per quarter.

L. H. Wakefield moved as an amendment that it be $125 per quarter. This was seconded by Mr. Collins.

Con Brosnahan moved as an amendment to the amendment that it be $25 per quarter.

President Camron said that it was out of order.

"I make it as a substitute, then," said Con Brosnahan.

Mr. Earl held that his motion was not an amendment.

President Camron ruled that a substitute was an amendment, and declared it out of order.

Con Brosnahan appealed, and Mr. Camron's ruling was not sustained.

Then it was discovered that the Council had voted upon a question entirely different from the one stated by the chair.

Mr. Evans arose to explain how he had voted, and the lobby remarked: "Out of order."

"If I hear any more such remarks I shall move to clear the lobby," said Mr. Evans.

"And I will protect the Councilmen to the full extent of the law," said President Camron.

Then it became evident that the Council had voted on an entirely different idea from that stated by the President.

The vote was vacated, and President Camron, for convenience, held that Mr. Earl's motion was an amendment, and his decision was appealed from and not sustained.

Then a vote was taken on Mr. Brosnahan's amendment of $25 per quarter. It was lost by a vote of 8 to 3, as follows:

For $25 per quarter—Earl, McAvoy, and Brosnahan—3.

Against $25 per quarter—Wakefield, Collins, Towle, Macdonald, Hackett, Kirk, Evans, and Camron—8.

There was a noisy sigh in the lobby, which President Camron immediately suppressed.

J. C. McAvoy made an eloquent appeal for his poor brethren in the Fourth ward. He told how the average saloon in the Fourth ward was poor, but honest, and was hardly able to pay what some considered a moderate license of $50 per quarter. Some of those old saloon keepers, he said, were citizens long before some of those who were at present in the Council ever saw Oakland, and he made an eloquent appeal for the old citizen saloon keepers. Then he said that this would be class legislation in favor of immorality, and the rich as against the poor.

L. H. Wakefield presented a little slip of paper from a prominent gentleman that he wished read. It was some statistics to oppose Mr. McAvoy, but as it was objected to it was not read.

L. H. Wakefield denied these statements and asserted that there was no possibility of having the revenue reduced, as it had been shown repeatedly that the revenue in those places had been increased just in the proportion that the saloons had been reduced.

Mr. McAvoy wanted to know if Mr. Wakefield did not know that the license in Chicago had been reduced because of the failure of the revenue.

Mr. Wakefield did not know any such thing. He said that he had known people who came here who had been disgusted at the number of saloons on Seventh street and had left the town. He told of the vote several years ago, when a license of $400 per year was voted and enacted, and when the Council that had just gone out of office had taken their seats their first act was to reduce the license one half. The people had protested in mass meeting, but the Council had, for some reason, taken no notice of the people. The result was that but one of the old Council had been returned.

Councilman Kirk make a start, but Councilman Evans got ahead of him.

Mr. Evans at Large.

Said Mr. Evans—With all due respect to those gentlemen who sent communications to me last week asking me to change my standing on the liquor license question as I changed from a ward candidate to one at large, I want to say right here that I shall stand just where I always stood. I received a letter this week from a very intelligent, but somewhat erratic gentleman, on this subject—you all know him, his name is Barker—in which he makes the following very peculiar suggestion: "When you withdrew your nomination as candidate for Councilman from the Sixth ward and accepted that as candidate at large, your position on the license question was entirely changed."

Mr. Evans remarked that Mr. Barker reminded him of Tom Shannon, who voted just the opposite to the platform on which he was elected. He said he was there to vote just as he had said he would and was in favor of $50. He then read from a prohibition paper showing the bad effect on Chicago of high license as a means to promote temperance. Also letters written by the Rev. C. H. Hobart of this city.

"The true principle of taxation," said Mr. Evans, "is to raise money for revenue for our Government. When you raise the license for the purpose of crowding out people I say you are overstepping your bounds. The license if it were raised to $1000 a quarter would not close a single saloon, unless the police regulations be enforced, and the only trouble is that the police regulations have not been enforced. A committee was appointed to investigate certain saloons in this town and they have made a report, and if the same form were pursued in every case every disreputable saloon would have to go. If the license is fixed at $125 I think we will be making a great mistake, because the next Council will certainly get back at us by taking the same revenge which we know is figuring in this Council tonight. The next Council may undo the work we are now doing, and instead of asking $125 or $150 they will be after $225 or $250, and I hope the amendment will not be sustained."

Mr. Collins of the First.

There was a move near the door of the Engineer's office, and slowly H. M. Collins arose. The lobby and half the Council held their breath, for they expected that Mr. Collins would say something about the recent charges that had been made against him in the San Francisco papers, and they were as much disappointed over Mr. Collins' speech as they had been over the action on the license ordinance. This is what Mr. Collins said:

"It might be well for me to define my position. I came here unpledged. I was asked this question only: 'If, when you are elected, will you give us a right to vote on the question of local option should a proper petition come before you?' What more could any one ask? and I agreed. I did not want the liquor question to come into this, and I told the saloon keepers in the First ward that if they would keep their hands off I would keep mine off, but they didn't keep their hands off, for there was not a saloon keeper in the First ward that did not get out on election day and work against the Citizens' ticket. I believe that there was one saloon keeper in the Watts tract who voted for me, and one clerk who did the same. The clerk was afterwards discharged when this was discovered, and I am sorry that I can't oblige my friend from the Watts tract by voting for low license. The vote in the First ward was based on the belief that there were certain irregularities in the Council as well as in politics. It was this understanding that carried the Citizens' ticket in the First ward. They remembered how two years ago a vote was taken on high license and how the Council had obeyed this vote and had passed a high license ordinance, but before the new Council our predecessors, had hardly warmed their seats, the high license ordinance had been repealed. The license ordinance that they passed was a good law, and for some reason it failed to work satisfactorily—it failed to restrict the sale of liquor.

"I believe that there are decent saloon-keepers and decent saloons, but I am not a moral man, and I may not be able to judge. But we have got to support the wives and families of these saloon-keepers by patronizing them, and we might just as well keep their families by sending them to the County Hospital as to keep them in the other way. It would be better for the wives and children of these men to be brought up in the County Hospital than to be serving beer over the counter of a grocery.

"This ordinance, if it is adopted, will accomplish more than any $1000 ordinance. With the power this ordinance gives us I feel that we can regulate the liquor traffic to suit all, and we can regulate the business to suit the people. The small saloons feel that they cannot afford to pay the high license, and so they feel that they would like to see the whole business wiped out if they must go. That is why these fellows want a license of $1000 per quarter if they can't keep it at $50. The local optionists want about the same thing. They want it all their own way or nothing. I have seen local optionists patronize saloons where a good, high license man would not. I have seen local optionists patronize these grocery saloons for their groceries, and the man that buys a paper of coffee is equally guilty with the man who buys whisky, for the profits all go to the same place. I am legislating for the people and not for myself.

"I might say some things here tonight, but I will refrain. Mud, contempt and sarcasm have been thrown at me; and last, and perhaps the least, threats, perhaps against life and property, have been hurled at me to-night because of my position on this question. If, because mud was thrown by the liquor men, the license should have been raised a little higher than it would otherwise have been, that is no fault of mine."

Just as the question was to be stated J. A. C. Macdonald asked if a substitute was in order. He then moved that $100 per quarter be substituted. This was seconded by J. F. Towle. Mr. Macdonald advocated his motion in a few words.

J. F. Towle, in seconding Mr. Macdonald's motion, explained that $100 per quarter was the original amount agreed upon, and he felt that it might look like personal spite if it was raised above that figure.

Then came the question as to which should be put first, the $100 per quarter amendment or the $125 per quarter amendment.

J. C. McAvoy explained that he certainly would rather vote for $100 than $125 per quarter, for the high license whip had been cracked.

Those who favored $125 per quarter were afraid that $100 might be adopted and everything might be lost, and so they had the $125 per quarter question taken up first. The roll was called on the question of $125 per quarter.

They Explain.

When Mr. Hackett's name was called he stated that he desired to explain his vote. "The people of Oakland will vote for $250 a quarter on this proposition. It has been said that I do not represent the people, not even the people of the Fifth ward, and that I am merely here to represent Mr. Evans.

Mr. Camron—The gentleman has asked to explain his vote. He must not go outside the question.

Mr. Hackett—I have a right to explain. I do not desire to defeat a good object, and if I cannot get $250 I will take $125 and therefore I vote aye.

When Mr. Brosnahan's name was called, he remarked: "I would like to do a little explaining. In the country in which I was raised high license has been a failure. In the State of Vermont, where I lived, it has been a failure. The people of Vermont are a church going people, but they never had high license until it was introduced in Maine. I have seen disgraceful scenes in the city of Fitchburg where there is not a single saloon to be found. I remember once when there was a fireman's parade at that place I never saw such a drunken mob in my life. Almost every Council here has let the liquor men alone except one, and they took action after one of the Councilmen was beaten at election. I have been proprietor of a saloon in this city. I remember when parties came to me with a petition to have a certain officer removed. I will mention his name. It was Officer Phillips. I said to them no. He is a good officer and does his duty and I will never sign a petition to have a man removed who does his duty. Now, I think we ought to give the police a chance to do their duty. The police force is now under control of one man and give him a chance to see what he can do. Let him carry out the restrictions of the present ordinance."

The vote on the amendment of $125 a quarter was then announced as follows:

Ayes—Wakefield, Collins, Macdonald, Hackett and Camron—5.

Noes—Earle, Evans, Towle, McAvoy, Brosnahan and Kirk—6.

The amendment was declared lost.

The amendment of Macdonald fixing the license at $100 a quarter, was then taken up and resulted in the following vote:

Ayes—Wakefield, Collins, Macdonald, Hackett, Towle, and Camron—6.

Noes—Earl, Evans, McAvoy, Brosnahan, and Kirk—5.

The amendment was declared adopted.

The Druggists.

After the excitement had subsided Mr. Evans moved that the following be stricken out:

After the word "advance" in section 15 the balance of the section as follows be stricken out: "provided that the provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to bona fide recognized druggists who may sell upon prescription of regularly licensed physicians for medicinal purposes."

Mr. Evans stated that people went to drug stores to tipple. There are more opium fiends, more morphine eaters, who procure the drug from drug stores, than there are sops in this town. If we allow this thing to go on in this way, the drug stores will practically sell liquor without a license. In Iowa, since the prohibition laws went into effect, they have had more trouble with the pharmacy laws than they ever had with the liquor laws.

The part of the section was stricken out.

Native Wines.

Mr. Wakefield then offered the following amendment to the same section:

And provided further, that the ordinance shall not apply to the sale for domestic and family use of pure California wines, as defined by State law, manufactured wholly from California grapes, when sold in original or unbroken packages in quantities of not less than one commercial pint bottle; provided that no consumption of wine, or any alcoholic or fermented beverages is permitted on the premises or in any place connected therewith where such exemption is claimed.

Mr. Wakefield said that he would not have spoken on the amendment unless it had been met with a sneer from the other side. He had studied the question and had come to the conclusion that the amendment was a good one. He maintained that in every country where wine was drank openly temperance prevails. He thought it would be a great damage to the State if the wine interests were interfered with. Mr. Evans has argued that wine is an adjunct to temperance. He hoped that the amendment would pass.

Mr. Evans said he had no objection to the amendment, provided that it included the beverage of beer. Spain uses nothing but wine as a beverage, and Spain is the soberest of all nations. The same may be said of the South of France, where wine is used. But when you come to the North of France where absynthe is used you find drunkenness. In Germany the temperance movement is advanced by the use of light wine and beer. In Germany they are a temperance people. If the gentleman will include malt liquors I will vote for his amendment. It is true we have $60,000,000 of grape interests in this State. I am not ready to drive the plow through these vines. The people that we have invited from abroad to come to this State are not to be fooled. I am not prepared to show an example to any part of this State. I am not prepared to say that our farmers shall not raise barley. I am not prepared to say that our brewers shall shut up their establishments and I go out of town. I am not prepared to cut down the assessment roll. I am not prepared to drive large numbers of people out of business. Therefore, if the gentleman at large will include malt liquors, I will vote for his amendment.

Mr. Wakefield—The gentleman admits that I am correct as far as I have gone. If you can't get a whole loaf why take a half.

Mr. Evans—Why not go the whole way instead of half.

Mr. Wakefield—It is better to go half way right than to go all the way wrong.

Mr. Evans—I am interested in a vineyard and so are you. I might be interested in a barley field.

Mr. McAvoy—I agree with Mr. Evans and Mr. Wakefield. Now since France and Germany have agreed on this subject I think we ought to agree.

Mr. Evans—When offered an amendment to Wakefield's amendment by inserting the words "malt beer" after the word grapes. The amendment was accepted by Wakefield.

Mr. Hackett—This is one of the things if it gets in there will rip this ordinance wide open. Why it is the beer men that start most of the saloons, at least most of the deadfalls. A man goes to a brewery and gets a barrel of beer and then goes to a cigar store and gets a few cigars and opens a saloon.

Mr. Kirk—Why I am astonished at this amendment. All the charges under the canopy of heaven have been made against the old Council, but, thank God, they can't make any charge like this. One member of the Council is interested in wine business and another in a barley field and both are endeavoring to get their business interests favorably considered under this ordinance.

Mr. Macdonald—We have now been working one month on this ordinance, and we do not want our labor thrown away. He hoped the amendment would not prevail.

Mr. Wakefield—If that will occur as my friends say then I will withdraw the amendment.

Mr. Camron—The gentleman withdraws his amendment.

Mr. Wakefield—No, sir; I do not. I withdraw the amendment to my amendment.

Mr. Evans—Why, you can't withdraw my amendment.

Mr. Wakefield—Then I will let my amendment stand.

Mr. Collins—Now, we want to act honestly in this matter. But you might just as well include whisky in that amendment. It will certainly kill the ordinance. When we take in beer, whisky, and everything else I can stand the dose.

Mr. Wakefield—I hope the gentleman from the Sixth will withdraw his amendment.

Mr. Evans—I have about ten acres of land in vines and he has about 100. If it is fair to admit one grower in the ordinance it is fair to admit both. I hold that Mr. Wakefield's and my vineyard should be admitted free, but I also hold that somebody's barley field should come in also. I think it is only fair.

Mr. Wakefield—Is there no way to separate these amendments.

Mr. Camron—You have accepted Mr. Wakefield's amendment.

Mr. Collins—Get this thing straight if you can. I now move that the amendment to the amendment be stricken out.

Mr. Evans—Surely that cannot be stricken out. I make the point of order that the motion is irregular.

Mr. Camron—The point is well taken.

Mr. Hackett—I can get around it. I move that the words "malt beer" be stricken out.

Mr. Camron—Your motion is out of order.

Mr. Hackett—That ruling is a little off. You can do anything if you have the six votes.

Mr. Camron—I did you say that ruling was a little off. Then, sir, there is a proper way to proceed.

Mr. Hackett—Now, sir, the chairman is only one man in this Council. I have a right to take on this question. If you have six votes you can strike out anything.

Mr. Camron—You cannot strike out a portion of that amendment.

A vote was then taken on Evans' amendment, as follows:

Ayes—Evans, Brosnahan, McAvoy, Earl, and Camron—5.

Noes—Hackett, Towle, Collins, Macdonald, Kirk, and Wakefield—6.

The amendment to the amendment was declared lost.

Mr. Wakefield then offered his original amendment.

Mr. McAvoy—If Government mule were here he would be compelled to blush. Is this a part of the bargain? He is willing to vote to salivate some other fellow, but he does not want to stand any salivating himself. Beer is the poor people's drink. I prefer beer to any other liquor. I think this is selfish legislation. I hope the amendment will be knocked sky high.

Mr. Evans—I am interested in about ten acres of grapes. They are for sale cheap. I will vote against the gentleman's amendment.

Mr. Kirk—I do not think there is any bargain in this. I think this amendment is a shameful thing. By God, I think it is the most shameful thing I ever heard of.

Mr. Evans—I hope the gentleman will not say there is a bargain in this thing. It is simply a discrimination against the barley farmer.

Mr. McAvoy—I desire to withdraw what I have said in regard to a bargain in this thing. I don't think there is any bargain in it. I do not think the other five gentlemen would be parties to any such bargain. I beg to withdraw my remarks in that respect. I believe in making temperance people out of the rich as well as the poor.

Mr. Wakefield—This is not a selfish movement with me. I am not selfish in this matter. If we can't get a whole loaf let us take a half. I have something to say in regard to a bargain after this vote.

Mr. Macdonald—I do not exactly understand the amendment. I would like to take a little time to consider the amendment before I vote on it. I will therefore ask to be excused from voting.

The vote on Wakefield's amendment resulted as follows:

Ayes, Hackett, Towle, Collins, Wakefield, and Cameron—5.

Noes, Evans, McAvoy, Kirk, Earl, and Brosnahan—5.

Excused—Macdonald.

The amendment was declared lost.

Mr. Collins suggested that the ordinance go into effect on July 1, 1889.

Mr. Macdonald thought that about August 1st would be the right time.

Mr. Kirk—This ordinance will freeze out fifty saloon keepers. Now you have been pretty liberal (meaning Mr. Camron). Give them a chance to get out of business.

Mr. Earl—Why, one hundred and fifty saloon men will go out of business.

Mr. Evans—Give them until September 1, 1889.

Mr. Collins—I have tried to be honorable in this matter. I believe that they should have an opportunity to get out of business. I therefore withdraw my motion to fix the time July 1st.

Mr. Towle—I voted conscientiously in this matter. If these six gentlemen think the $100 license a failure in six months from now, and they want $1000 license, why, I am with them.

The motion that the ordinance take effect September 1, 1889, was passed.

The ordinance was then passed to print, Messrs. Evans, Brosnahan and Kirk voting "no."

Dietz.

After ordering the resolution passed to print Mr. Hackett offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That good cause appearing therefor, the permission heretofore, on the 21st day of May, 1889, granted by the Council of the city of Oakland to A. C. Dietz, to obtain a license to carry on and conduct a saloon and bar and place for the sale of intoxicating liquor, at the northeast corner of Twelfth and Webster streets, in the city of Oakland, be, and the same is hereby revoked; and

Resolved, That it is hereby determined by this Council that good cause exists for the revoking of said permission.

Mr. Kirk—Where does that resolution come from? Who is the author of it?

Mr. Hackett—I am the author of it, sir.

Mr. Evans said he was in favor of giving Mr. Dietz a chance to present his case. Mr. Hackett said that the City Attorney had informed him that this was the proper way to take the matter up.

Mr. Evans—As I understand, while he stated in effect the views of the City Attorney, he did not state all of them. I believe the surest and best way to proceed is to adopt a resolution citing Dietz to appear before the Investigating Committee. It has been left until the eleventh hour now, but we ought to work on it right.

Mr. Hackett—About a week or ten days ago Mr. Evans said he would have the matter fixed, and would institute proceedings to have his permit taken away. It is not our place to investigate him. It is his place to prove that his house is not disorderly.

Mr. Evans—I expressed a willingness to do as the gentleman has just said, and I believe we met one night, at which time I made an attempt to have the matter attended to, but we did not succeed, and I suppose this is the only thing we can do now. The resolution was adopted, with but a single "no," and that was Mr. Kirk's.

The report of the Investigating Committee closing three saloons, which was presented early in the evening by the chairman, was then adopted by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Camron then introduced a resolution calling for bids for lighting the city for the ensuing year either by gas or electricity, which was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the City Clerk to advertise in the city official paper all street notices, etc.

In explaining the meaning of the resolution Mr. Evans said that the Tribune Publishing Company had agreed to do certain printing for nothing, but that the courts had held that printing contracts were invalid unless there was a consideration. The old ordinance, he said, was a peculiar affair, one trouble about it was that no rate had been made, and if the city don't fix a rate the paper could fix any rate they pleased, therefore he moved that they be allowed the regular commercial rates. The old contract, he said, was in two handwritings, and that of itself was sufficient to damn it before any court. The other writing on the ordinance had been recognized as that of the City Attorney, and had been inserted after the ordinance had been framed, as could be distinctly seen by the writing over certain red lines. The matter was simply a question of equity and he hoped the resolution would pass.

Mr. Macdonald thought the city should advertise for new bids.

The resolution was then adopted.

J. N. Bailey was granted fifteen days to complete the grading of Eleventh avenue, to date from May 12th.

Mr. Collins offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the Board of Health to report what action had been taken by them, if any, to abate the Sixteenth-street nuisance.

The following bills were ordered paid:

A. Peterson, $1 30; George W. Harrison, $30, $30, $60; Oakland Gas Company, $227 50, $2452 28, $227 50, $2745 96, $164 47, $6 75; W. A. King, $3 25, Jeffress, Mitchell & Co. $12 75; Morning Times, $11 55, $10 50; Oakland Paving Company, $134 96 (broken rock at City Hall); Oakland Journal, $9; Enquirer, $18.

An adjournment was then taken until Wednesday night.

MURRAY SCHOOLS.

A Murray Township Union School Picnic.

A Pleasant Day For the Children in the Arroyo Valle.

The Games Played and the Prizes Won—A Football Match—Livermore Against the Township.

LIVERMORE, May 4th.

The second annual May picnic of the Murray Township School Union has just ended. It was held at Tretzel's Grove at Arroyo Valle, about two and a half miles south of town.

As early as 8 o'clock in the morning teams heavily freighted with laughing, happy children and no less happy adults began to arrive, and by noon not less than 2500 people were on the grounds.

At 10:30 sharp, at the beat of the drum, the children of all the schools in the township, to the number of 800, each school under a beautiful banner, formed in line in the order of their numbers, Livermore at the head, 370 strong, and under the lead of Supt. Fisher, marched around the grounds and forming in open order in the rear of the pavilion, sang the "May Song." Then, under the lead of the little girls from the Livermore school, standing on large tables so as to be seen, the whole 800 went through a graceful and excellent drill in calisthenics, much to the delight of the patrons of the schools, many of whom had never seen anything of the kind before. After singing the "Red, White, and Blue," which was done with a will by all the pupils, who waved their hats and handkerchiefs on the "Three cheers for the red, white, and blue" chorus, the schools countermarched to the starting point and disbanded. Instantly the pavilion and all the space commanding a view of its floor was crowded, and the audience was held spellbound for half an hour by twelve neatly uniformed girls from the Livermore school carrying brooms trimmed with scarlet who, lead by Miss Grace Campbell a teacher from that school, went through the manual of arms and the entire school of the soldier, as far as applicable to the company drill, with a grace, precision and snap that I have never seen equaled on any stage nor scarce excelled by regular soldiers. No West Point drillmaster could measure the time and distance for the maneuvres and pass the word of command with greater exactness than did Miss Campbell. There was then a general dispersion for lunch, and 'neath every tree was such feasting as the giant sycamores had never seen before. At 1 o'clock the pavilion was cleared for dancing and the floor was crowded until 6 o'clock with light-hearted as well as light-footed youth.

Meanwhile in the field a spirited contest was carried on for the numerous and beautiful prizes literally contributed by the good people of Livermore and Pleasanton, with the results set forth below:

The games closed with a football match between a team of fifteen boys from the Livermore school and fifteen selected from the other schools of the township—best three in five. The games were hotly contested, but the Livermore team took the three first games and the match; also the prize, a fine foothall.

Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. McDonald, principal of Green school, for his energy and fairness in starting the games; nor to Mr. Sanford, principal of Pleasanton school, who with equal promptness and fairness acted as judge till he was obliged to leave, when his place was ably filled by Mr. Hind, principal of San Lorenzo school, who kindly consented to act. Mr. Sanford also conducted the singing.

Though there were several sprinkles of rain during the day, everything went along just the same, and all voted it a success. Yours, C.

Railway Mail Service.

There will be a change in a few days in the arrival and departure of eastern mails via the Central and Union Pacific railroads. Hereafter there will be two mail dispatched at 3:30 and 6:30 P. M., and two received from the east at 11:45 A. M. and 7:45 P. M. daily. Postmaster Hanna has not yet been notified of the change. He does not believe that the order will go into effect before the 12th inst.

THE POLICE WAGE WAR.

Chief Tompkins Insists Upon Enforcing the Ordinances.

Chief of Police Tompkins's efforts to enforce several dead ordinances have been very successful so far as the train jumping law is concerned, and now that this has been tried successfully the boys may take warning, for other laws are also to be enforced at once. The cigarette ordinance, which prohibits boys under the age of 16 from smoking the vile weed will at once be enforced. Said Mr. Tompkins: "I will arrest every boy, whether he is the son of a millionaire or a laborer, who is found on the streets with a cigarette in his mouth, provided he is under the age fixed by the ordinance. Then I will turn my attention to the lads under the prescribed age who are found on the streets after 9 o'clock at night. The bicyclists will be made to understand that there is an ordinance which prohibits them wheeling on the sidewalks. This will also apply to the little 'kids' who make life miserable by running against your legs on three-wheeled velocipedes." It is evident that the children will have to walk straight, from what the Chief says, and he has been promised the support of the Police Judge and City Attorney.

It is a Curious Fact

That the body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season. Hence the importance of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla now, when it will do you the most good. It is really wonderful for purifying and enriching the blood, creating an appetite, and giving a healthy tone to the whole system. Be sure and get Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is peculiar to itself.

An Investigation Asked For.

If you will take the trouble to investigate the subject for yourself, you will find St. Patrick's Pills to be the most perfect cathartic and liver pills in use. They not only physic but cleanse the entire system and regulate the liver and bowels. For sale by Weitman & Henry, 1170 Broadway.

Colonel Tarpey's Warfare Upon the Poundmaster.

Charges Preferred Against Police Officer Chisholm—A Postponed Picnic—Big Death Rate.

The Board of Education will hold a regular meeting this evening.

John Nobmann and family are now occupying Adams's mansion on Broadway.

M. A. Kynoch has returned from Sutter City. He reports that place as being very lively and prosperous.

The work of macadamizing Central avenue is progressing very slowly, to the great annoyance of the property owners.

There was a very heavy dash of rain in this city yesterday afternoon. Work upon the streets and sidewalks has been temporarily suspended on account of the storm.

The salary list for the month of May amounted to $1774 75, the largest of any month since the incorporation of the city. This is due to the increase of the salaries of some of the officials.

F. Mandler, the proprietor of a Park street bakery, was thrown off a wagon while it was rounding a curve last Saturday, and was severely injured. He will be confined to his home about two weeks.

Constable Fassking is no longer connected with Justice Syler's court, but is still bailiff of the Justice's Court at the West End. Constable Norris serves all the papers issued by Justice Byler.

Pacific Hose Company, No. 4, had made arrangements to give their annual picnic last Sunday in the hills back of Mills College; but as the wind blew and the rain fell that day, their day of outing in the woods was postponed until some Sunday next month.

George Sturtevant expects to receive his commission as Postmaster in a few days. He does not intend to make any change in the location of the office for the present, but states that he will inaugurate a number of reforms in its management. The office is now located in one of the Tucker buildings, and no rent is charged.

A Large Death Rate

The death rate in Alameda has been remarkably low the past year, the average monthly rate being eight. But last month the rate was seventeen, the largest of any month since the keeping of mortuary statistics in this city. Three of the deaths were still born infants. Whooping cough, which is an epidemic among the children at the West End, claimed one victim.

A Mysterious Committee.

It was stated in last evening's TRIBUNE that F. K. Krauth and T. G. Daniels, the town editors, constituted the committee who decided that table No. 1 was entitled to the prize offered by the Flower Mission for the most artistic arrangement of flowers exhibited at their fair. This seems to be a mistake. Six persons constituted the committee, but who these six persons are is supposed to be a mystery. They are supposed not even to know one another. Their names are a secret with the young ladies of the Executive Committee. It was thought that by having a secret committee the persons constituting it, would thus be spared the ill will of those who were disappointed because their exhibit was not the favored one. For this reason the Alameda editors do not wish their names to be singled out, as they have no intentions of leaving the city for the present.

The City Trustees.

M. F. Tarpey, the Democratic war horse, loomed up at the meeting of the City Trustees last evening. A couple of weeks ago he made a complaint against the Poundmaster, and was present last evening to prove the charges. He said that while a Japanese boy was tethering his two cows on Grand street, Poundmaster Tapio and his assistant attempted to take the animals away from him, and failing to do so, assaulted the Japanese and beat him severely. The Japanese was called by Mr. Tarpey and described the cruel treatment which he had received.

Poundmaster Tapio did not deny that the boy was beaten. He held that Mr. Tarpey had no more right than anyone else to pasture his cows on the public streets. The Japanese boy was struck by his assistant because he had provoked him by grabbing his shirt at the neck and pulling it off. He considered that he was simply doing his duty when he attempted to impound the cows.

The trustees after listening to the evidence, adopted resolutions censuring the Poundmaster for using unnecessary violence.

A long document in the handwriting of George W. Silver, the putative attorney, was presented to the board for their consideration. It contained several charges against Police Officer David Chisholm and was signed by J. T. Croll, proprietor of the Neptune Gardens, Constable Louis Fassking and Patrick Britt. The trustees refused to hear the lengthy document read, and it was referred to the Committee on Police, who will investigate the charges. This is the outcome of the efforts of a certain element at the West End to have Officer Chisholm removed from the force.

A petition was read from ninety-five of the 197 property owners on Park avenue, asking that the strip of land on which the avenue fronts be condemned in the usual legal manner for a public park. It was referred to the City Attorney.

Health Officer McLean called attention to the necessity of a sewer in Encinal avenue, between Willow and Chestnut streets, and a resolution of intention to lay one was ordered to be prepared; also, upon petition of property owners in Clement avenue, between Park and Oak streets.

J. C. Jamieson petitioned the board for a franchise to build a wharf into the estuary off Grand street, the franchise to run thirty years. The board felt doubtful as to whether it had the power to grant such a franchise, and the petition was laid over for future consideration.

The Board of Fire Delegates petitioned that the salary of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department be increased from $25 to $50 per month, but no action was taken.

THE SUPERVISOR'S SESSION.

Proceedings of Yesterday's Afternoon Meeting of the Board.

The Board of Supervisors reconvened at 2 P. M. yesterday, a full board being present.

The report of the Superintendent of the County Infirmary was read and referred to the Hospital Committee.

Supervisor D. C. Brown reported on indigents relieved by him during April.

A petition signed by W. O. Chapman and thirteen other residents of Lacoste, Sunol, and Rosedale School districts, recommended that sections 34 and 35, township 4 south, range 1 east, be placed in Rosedale School district, as it is more convenient for the residents of those sections. Superintendent Fisher recommended that the request be granted, and it was so done.

The Committee of the Whole reported that the matter of the petition of D. Daldorf and others of Eureka or Mount Eden school district for the formation of a new school district, the protest of Edward Clawiter and others against the creation of said proposed new district, and the report of the County Superintendent of Schools recommending that the prayer of the petitioners be not granted, which was taken under advisement at the last meeting. They recommended that the recommendation of the County School Superintendent be adopted and said petition be denied, and this action was taken.

A supplemental report that was read at the last meeting of the board and taken under advisement had been considered by the Committee of the Whole, who recommended that the supplemental report of the Superintendent be adopted, and the said boundaries of said district be changed as described in the supplemental report.

Adopted.

A petition of Daniel Culp for a private road, thirty feet wide, in Eden township, was considered. A bond accompanied the petition. On motion of Supervisor Martin the petition was received, the bond approved, and John Dobbel, A. P. Kluit and the County Surveyor appointed viewers.

Judge Ellsworth of Department 3 of the Superior Court requested that the board lay new carpets in his chambers in the Courthouse. Referred to the Building Committee with power to act.

The Superintendent of the County Infirmary made three requisitions for various articles, including a barrel of whisky and a barrel of port that were required at the Infirmary.

On recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools the boundaries of Alvarado School district were fixed so as to take in certain territory as prayed for by residents of Eureka School district at the last meeting of the board.

Superintendent Fisher asked to have his office recarpeted, and generally overhauled and cleaned.

The District Attorney gave his opinion in the matter of the Lorin school-bond case that the Board of Trustees were at fault, and that the board had power to withdraw their report and amend the same to make it conform to the law.

On motion, the Trustees were allowed to withdraw the report and file a corrected one.

A requisition from the Sheriff for certain clothing for prisoners in the County Jail and material for use by the Sheriff was referred to the Building Committee with power to act.

The following bills were allowed:

DRUNKENNESS
(Or the Liquor Habit), Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale by all druggists in Oakland. Trade supplied by J. R. GATES & CO., San Francisco, Cal.

THE WORLD.

The Charleston Starts on Her Trial Trip.

Five Persons Burned to Death Near New York.

The Citizens' Ticket Elected at Visalia.

The Storm Ensures Plenty of Water for Irrigation.

Special to the Oakland Tribune by Western Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—At five o'clock this morning the cruiser Charleston started on her trial trip. She steamed slowly around the bay at the rate of eleven knots, and at 9:15 o'clock passed through the Golden Gate. She is commanded by Charles Goodall Jr. of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. The Charleston will proceed direct to Santa Barbara Channel, though on the way informal tests will be made. On her arrival she will be given time to be prepared for the test, which will be a severe one. On board the Charleston are only the officers and men, the Naval Board, consisting of Commodore Benham, Captain Glass, and Constructor Teister; Chief Engineers Harris, Smith, and Wilson; ten assistant engineers; the Associated Press representative; G. M. Gunn, G. W. Dickey, and Robert Forsythe of the Union Iron Works; and W. R. Eckart, a mechanical engineer. No special time has been set for the trial trip, which will probably be decided on arrival at the ship's destination. If the first trip is unsatisfactory another will follow.

SICK BENEFITS.

A Decision of Considerable Interest to Odd Fellows.

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 7.—A decision of great interest to Odd Fellows was rendered here yesterday by Judge Crabtree. G. H. Platner, a member of Winnebago Lodge, has been in bad health for years, and claimed to be entitled to the benefits of the order, owing to his inability to work. The amount was nearly $1000, and the lodge refused to pay, on the ground that his sickness did not come within the requirements and that he was engaged in no business, and would not have been employed even if he were well. The case was tried by the court of the society and decided against Mr. Platner. Judge Crabtree decided that they must pay the sum sued for and costs; that no society could act as a court in property matters, prohibiting any member from further appeal to civil courts of proper jurisdiction.

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE.

A Blacksmith Kills His [illegible] on the Glenn Ranch.

ORLAND, Cal., May 7.—A justifiable homicide occurred on the Glenn ranch, at what is known as Haley's place, two miles west of Jacinto yesterday forenoon. A big fellow named C. W. Strope, employed on the place, had been drinking and picked on the blacksmith of the ranch, Albert Gittner, a small man, and had twice whipped him for no apparent reason. Strope for the third time attacked Gittner in the shop, who warned him off and backed toward his sleeping room. Gittner warned Strope, who had hold of his throat, to let go. Gittner finally got his Winchester rifle, with which he shot Strope, the ball entering the right cheek and passing through his head, causing instant death. Coroner Duncan held an inquest last evening, and the facts as above stated were developed. Strope was a native of Ohio, 35 years old. Gittner is late of San Francisco.

PRISON ICE.

The Scheme to Manufacture Ice at the Folsom Prison.

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—Regarding the proposition to manufacture ice at the Folsom Prison for general consumption, Director Shattuck said to-day that the new dam when completed will provide power to make 200 tons a day at $2 50 a ton. The income would be enough to sustain the prison, and besides, the people could have ice at a very low rate, say $4 or $5 a ton at the railroad depot, freight paid. Mr. Shattuck said that he has investigated the subject thoroughly and that it is for the public benefit, only outlay would be the cost of the original plant as the labor and power will cost nothing.

ROASTED TO DEATH.

Five Persons Die in the Flames of a Burning House.

WESTCHESTER, N. Y., May 7.—The dwelling house of Watson Bownes was burned last night, and five persons were burned to death. The household consisted of Watson Bownes, his wife and mother, two children and two tenants. It is supposed a lamp which was left burning in the hall exploded and started the flames. When Bownes was awakened by the crackling flames the fire had already gained great headway. Bownes gave the alarm and carried his wife into the open air. Both were severely burned.

SAMOA.

A German Version of the Instructions to the Commission.

BERLIN, May 7.—The Vossische Zeitung says the American Commissioners to the Samoan conference were instructed by their Government to demand the neutrality of the islands and the administration of Samoan affairs by Samoa and to urge their right to establish a coaling station at Pago-Pago. Bismarck gave an audience to the Commission to-day.

INTERNATIONAL RAILROADS.

Chauncey M. Depew on Mexican and Canadian Roads.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Chauncey M. Depew testified before the Senate Investigating Committee to-day. He thought the Inter-State commerce law should be amended to cover the Mexican and Canadian roads having connections with this country. He declared pooling must be recognized. General Manager Dickson of the Grand Trunk testified, and admitted his road practically controlled rates between Chicago and Portland, Me.

SUBSTANTIALLY CORRECT.

Parnell Corrects His Testimony Given Last Week.

LONDON, May 7.—Parnell corrected his testimony of Friday in which he admitted he had misled the House of Commons in regard to secret conspiracies in Ireland. By reference to a verbation report he found he said that Ribbonism had ceased, wich was substantially correct.

GOVERNOR OF UTAH.

The President Makes Appointments for That Territory.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The President has made the following appointments for Utah: Arthur Thomas, Salt Lake City, Governor; Elijah Sells, Salt Lake City, Secretary; Ellsworth Daggett, Surveyor General.

THE STORM.

The Weather is Regarded as Unprecedented for May.

REDDING, May 7.—A severe hail storm occurred this morning. The weather is unprecedented for May. Much grain is lodged, but there is little damage otherwise.

Senator Stanford's Horses.

NEW YORK, May 7. — Senator Stanford's California trotters will be sold at auction to-morrow. They have been attracting much attention.

A Big Wind.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., May 7.—A terrible wind storm has prevailed since last night. Many houses and barns in the country are unroofed.

The Adams Ordered to Honolulu.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Orders were issued to-day at the Navy Department directing the United States steamship Adams, now at Mare Island, to proceed to Honolulu as soon as ready for sea, which will be shortly.

A Wet Election.

GRASS VALLEY, May 7.—In the town election Monday there was no politics. In a heavy rain 608 votes were cast and Trustees elected.

FROM VISALIA.

Citizens' Ticket Elected—Plenty of Water for Irrigation.

VISALIA, May 7.—At the city election yesterday the entire Citizens' Ticket was elected, which points to a continued improvement in the city for the next two years.

TO SUCCEED JUDGE WILSON.

The Governor Makes a Number of Appointments.

The Governor has appointed the following Trustees of the State Mining Bureau:

W. S. Reyes of San Francisco vice self, T. Heydenfeldt of San Francisco vice self, J. Z. Davis, San Francisco, vice self; W. T. Garrett, San Francisco, vice G. W. Grayson; George C. Perkins, Alameda, vice George Hearst.

The Governor has appointed W. F. Reynegur Superor Judge for San Francisco. Vice T. K. Wilson resigned the appointment to take place May 16th.

THE BAR BARRED.

Epitaphs on the Disreputable Saloon Now Closed.

The Temple Bar is dead and the proprietor has gone into mourning. Crape is on the door, and the passer by, from the appearance of the sign of death, would really believe that some one connected with the house had laid down the cares of this life and made his exit into the great unknown. But it is the barkeeper, R. Tates, who has laid down his beer glass and bung starter, and closed his doors and buried himself within his saloon, and proposes to henceforth make the place his tomb. The inscription on a card above the crape on the front door bears these words:

CLOSED
On account of the death of Low License.

On a piece of paper pasted on one of the panes of glass in the door is this unintelligible information:

"All opium fiends apply to the Times office for their hang out.
(Signed) R. TATES."

On another piece of paper is the announcement that

Moffitt in his little political scheme against the Temple Bar has proved a success. So please let go. R. TATE.

On a piece of paper hung in a window is the caption "WARNING TO REPORTERS," but the balance of the manifesto to the men of the press cannot be seen as it has slipped down behind the frosting on the glass.

THE MAN WITH A PULL.

Mr. McCloskey Who Was "Bate" Will Tug at It.

"My name is John McCloskey, and I live at 970 Third street. I just got out of jail and I want a warrant for the arrest of James Clark for battery," said a son of Erin to District Attorney Reed this morning. His face indicated that he might have had a struggle with a sausage machine.

"Well, I'll tell you how it happened," said Mr. McCloskey. "Clark sold my wife some liquor, and I told him he was no gentleman, and I would not pay a cent of a bill run up for liquor. I went home and went to bed, and Clark came to my house. When I was in bed he bate me on the head. Then he bate me on the stomach, and then he bate me on the legs. Oh, how he bate me! Faith and I tell ye, when he went away nary thing could I see. I started to walk up the street, and of course I was bate so bad I could not see, and Officer Brown arrested me for being drunk and I have been in jail ever since. Now, let me tell you, this man Clark has a political pull, and if he gets away with me then I will say '—— the Democratic party.' I know Mr. West Martin and Robert Fitzgerald, but devil a favor would I ask of them."

Mr. McCloskey was given a warrant for Mr. Clark's arrest on a charge of battery.

HAYWARDS ELECTION.

But One Ticket in the Field and No Opposition.

Yesterday was the day of the town election in Haywards, and the people voted the only ticket that was presented. In the evening the brass band paraded and the people generally enjoyed themselves.

The successful candidates and the votes that fell to their lot are here recorded: A. Bradford, 229, D. Chisholm, 217, S. Palmtag, 199, A. L. Gresham, 219, D. Luce, 152. Assessor, A. R. Hall, 228. Town Clerk, J. A. Collins, 321. Marshal, J. O. Prowse, 126. Treasurer, D. B. Russells, 228.

For trustee H. Landers received 198 votes and Joseph Wiede 111 for Assessor.

SAN LEANDRO GOVERNMENT.

The Triumphant Democrats Elect Republican Trustees.

The town election at San Leandro yesterday passed off very quietly. There were only two tickets in the field. One was headed "Citizens' High License Ticket," which was defeated, and the other "The People's Ticket," which was victorious. The former ticket was nominated at a Republican caucus, while the latter was put up at a Democratic caucus. It will be noted, however, that the Republicans have a majority of the Board of Trustees on the successful ticket. When the result of the election was announced the successful parties built bonfires and a general jollification was had.

The vote stood as follows:

Citizens' High License ticket:

Trustees—Fred Bryant (R.), 120; L. C. Morehouse (R.), 121; C. Q. Rideout (R.), 121; J. M. Estudillo (D.), 267; John Black (R.), 112.

Town Clerk—George Sturtevant (R.), 130.

Town Marshal—L. J. Martin (D.), 278.

Town Treasurer — Aug. Bjorkman (R.), 133.

Town Assessor—W. W. Reed, (R.), 130.

People's ticket:

Trustees—A. B. Cary, (R.), 181; M. J. Garcia, (D.), 152; B. C. Hawes, (R.), 175; J. M. Estudillo, (D.), 267; E. D. Gray, (R.), 171.

Town Marshal—L. J. Martin, (D.), 278.

Town Clerk—J. E. Quinn, (D.), 155.

Town Treasurer—F. Meyers, (D.), 161.

Town Assessor—F. H. Williams, (D.), 154.

After Davies.

A warrant was issued this afternoon for J. Meredith Davies, charging him with selling liquors at Tubbs Hotel without a license.

Corns and Bunions.

Dr. H. Schwarz has fitted up a nice office at 1115 Broadway, near the corner of Thirteenth street, for the accommodation of his many patients. As a surgeon and chiropodist, it is doubtful if any in the United States can equal him in the branches of medical science. The doctor has made a life long study of all diseases of the feet, and is probably the only living doctor who can actually do as he claims—extract corns and bunions without pain. Ingrown and club nails are easily cured by his method in a very short space of time. The doctors practice extends as far as San Francisco and Stockton, and he is recognized as she only successful chiropodist on the coast. Office hours, 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 1 to 6 P. M.

Mutiny in the Ranks.

Oakland boasts of three military companies, but from all appearances it will soon have but two, owing to a little difficulty which has arisen. Company A, of the Fifth Infantry Regiment, recently gave an order for fifty overcoats to a San Francisco tailor, which were received a few weeks ago. However, the coats have never been worn in public yet, and rumor has it that the boys refuse to wear them because they were not turned out by Joe Lancaster's artistic hand. Joe's clothes are the finest to be had, and his new line of summer goods is something magnificent. You had better try him.

New Achievements in the Advancement of Science and Medicine.

SACRAMENTO, May 2, 1889.

Feeling it a duty I owe to sufferers I make the following statement: Two years ago my health began to fail. I was given up by physicians in New York City, Boston, Chicago and San Francisco. Through friends in the East I heard of Dr. Bluett's success in chronic diseases. I was suffering with the following symptoms: Coughing and raising a thick, heavy matter that would sink in water, hectic flushes, chills, night sweats, pulse 110 to 120, no appetite, constipation, cold hands and feet, impossible to keep food in the stomach, pain through my lungs and through the body.

I was impressed with Dr. Bluett's diagnosis of my case, and commenced treatment. Four days later I felt a peculiar tingling or prickling sensation from head to foot, and a very strange feeling in my lungs impossible to describe, further than a liquid fire passing through them. My pulse grew stronger, and I commenced to eject, and am satisfied I threw up a quart of solid matter that night and rest followed, showing that the air cells had been thoroughly opened, and I breathed easy once more. My appetite returned and cough disappeared. From that day to this I have rapidly improved and will gladly answer any inquiries concerning Dr. Bluett's new treatment. Address Mrs. J. Morse, 421 J street, Sacramento, Cal. Dr. W. H. Bluett, 1069 Broadway, Oakland, Cal. Consultation free.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

To Our Merchants, Farmers, and Mechanics:

Our one hundred workmen daily wait
The rent, the wood and the coal that's good;
The bread, the meat, and the water,
O'Reilly, is good.
The coffee, the tea, that we want every day,
The sugar, the rice that is nice, they say,
The fruit, potatoes and corn must all come in,
While the frock on the little one gets very thin.
Now to get all these, and many things more,
We must work every day, or get very poor;
Besides helping you to buy ours, the best shoe;
They are all very cheap, and made with great care,
And are guaranteed to give you the best wear.
W. B. & S Co., 403 Thirteenth street.

DID YOU SEE THEM?

The Five New Wagons of the People's Express Company.

The streets of Oakland are dotted here and there with large red wagons of the People's Express Company, running here and there with large loads. Recently they have turned out five newly painted wagons and a large truck. Their business is increasing to such an extent, that they are purchasing from one to two wagons a month. Travelers never forget this company, as they check baggage at your residence to all parts of the United States, besides they make a specialty of moving pianos, furniture, etc. Remember the number, 423 Tenth street. Telephone No. 323.

DROP in to George's Exchange, 477 Eighth street, for fresh beer on tap, choice wines, liquors and cigars, and weiss beer.
